Maritime Commission Balks At Dictating Terms For West Coast

LABOR DEPARTMENT SCHEDULES MEETING

AFL Trolleyman At Pittsburgh Vote Against Returning To Work

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Negotiations to settle the all-coast shipping strike ran into new difficulties tonight as the Maritime Commission balked—for the time being—at dictating settlement terms for government-operated ships on the West coast.

The Labor Department wanted the commission to order into effect, on these Pacific coast ships, the settlement terms already virtually agreed to on the East coast. The terms include provisions for "union security," to which West coast operators strenuously objected.

But the commission took the position that it could not act until the East coast settlement was signed and sealed.

Meeting Is Scheduled
The decision, announced to reporters by Greenville Mellon, a Maritime Commission member, caused the Labor Department to schedule a meeting at 10 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time) tomorrow.

This will be aimed at trying to write into a completed contract the virtually-agreed terms between East and Gulf coast ship operators and the two striking unions. There still is some dispute over wage terms but Labor Department conciliators said the differences were slight.

The Maritime Commission had agreed that if East and Gulf coast operators reached an agreement with the unions, it would apply the same terms applied to government ships in the Pacific. These ships comprise about 40 per cent of the merchant marine on the West coast.

Commission Awaits Agreement
Mellon told newsmen after a three and one-half hour conference with Secretary of Labor Harold I. Wilson that the commission would take no action until operators and unions reached an agreement. Apparently he meant East and Gulf coast operators because, officials said, the Maritime Commission has given the unions a written pledge it will order any East coast agreement, once it is reached, into effect for its ships on the West coast.

"It is between the operators and the unions," Mellon said this evening. "We have no decision to make on it."

He added that the Maritime Commission has seen no agreement, even for the East coast, reduced to writing.

Pittsburgh Trolleyman Vote To Stay Off Jobs

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 4 (AP)—AFL trolleyman who quit work a week ago rather than cross picket lines of striking power union workers tonight voted against a back-to-work movement.

The work stoppage by about 2,700 street car motormen of the Pittsburgh Railways Company has been the most paralyzing factor in the 11-day strike of the independent power union against the Duquesne Light Company.

The vote, in which only 1,921 ballots were cast, was on a proposal of whether to send an ultimatum to the power union to the effect that if it did not agree to accept mediation or arbitration of its dispute by midnight tonight, the street car men would go back to their jobs.

The vote was announced as 635 against the proposal and 362 for it, with 24 ballots void.

Approximately 3,500 members of the power union are on strike, demanding a 20 per cent wage increase and other benefits. Negotiations have been hopelessly deadlocked and chances of settlement tonight appeared about as dark as the dimmed streets of the Steel capital.

"Dreamboat" Flashes Over Alaska On Polar Flight To Cairo, Egypt

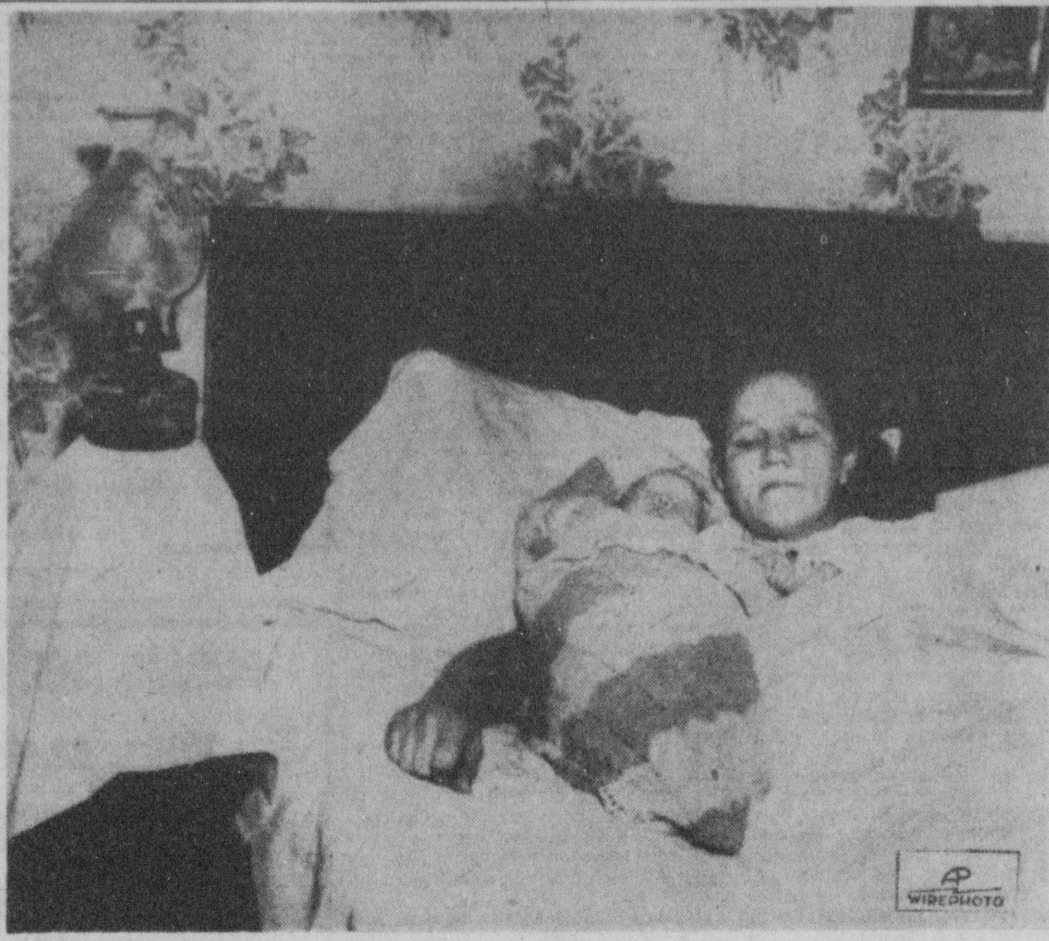

SEATTLE, Oct. 4 (AP)—The "Pan-cusian Dreamboat" Army plane made a landfall, 70 miles northeast of Sitka, Alaska, at 11 p. m. (EST) tonight en route from Honolulu to Egypt.

She was climbing slowly to cross the mountainous area after outracing a Gulf of Alaska storm.

The Boeing Aircraft Company, listening post here intercepted a voice message from the plane, which passed over Sitka, Alaska, above heavy clouds, saying "We confirm our landfall." She was flying at 7,650 feet elevation.

The army's Alaska communication system station at Juneau heard the plane say that crew members could see the light of Juneau and estimated they were 20 miles away at 8 o'clock.

Col. Clarence S. Irvine, flight commander, has estimated his Cairo, Egypt, arrival time 1 a. m. Eastern Standard Time, Sunday. Over the Pacific, 2,386 miles and approximate-

Scars Burned Into Face Of Cliff Are About All That Remain

STEPHENVILLE, Nfld., Oct. 4 (AP)—Massive heart-shaped scars burned into the face of a 1,200-foot cliff are about all that remain of the Berlin-bound American Overseas airliner which crashed and burned yesterday morning, killing 39 persons.

A few chunks of shriveled molten metal, a few larger than a man's fist are strewn at the base of the sheer precipice.

The powerful, four-engined transport had hurtled head-on into the solid mass of rock at a speed estimated in excess of 200 miles an hour.

Ground parties found two bodies, tentatively identified as those of Purser Herbert Ewing, 36, Greensburg, Ind., and Stewardess Margaret Burleigh, 23, Jackson Heights, New York.

There is no trace of the other victims.

The black blotch on the mountainside was visible from the runways of this Air Transport Command base. Ground crews, watching the red tail light of the ship after it took off shortly before dawn yesterday, were startled to see the sky flare crimson in a burst of flame.

Refinery Fire Death Toll Climbs To Seven

MARCUS HOOK, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—The death toll in spectacular explosions and fire at Sun Oil Company's huge Marcus Hook refinery climbed to seven today with at least 140 others injured, five critically.

Hopes For Early Return Of Mines Dashed By UMW

Convention Declines To Make Contract For Part Of Industry

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 4 (AP)—The United Mine Workers convention declined today to make a contract for part of the bituminous industry, dashing hopes for an early return of the federally-operated mines to private owners.

Before adjourning their 39th convention, the 2,800 delegates adopted a report of a scale committee which gave to a policy group of about 170 members the task of determining what wage demands, if any, to make on the operators as a condition to working for them.

The bituminous mines have been run by the government since last May 22, under a contract made by John L. Lewis, UMW president, and Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug, ending a 59-day strike.

UMW Wants National Agreement
All but the powerful Southern Coal Producers Association indicated they would accept terms of the Krug-Lewis agreement, and the convention was asked to decide whether to make a contract with part of the industry.

The miners achieved a national agreement for the first time in 1945. They decided emphatically today they did not want to abandon that policy.

So return of the mines seemed a remote possibility unless the southern operators change their opinion.

The policy committee will decide when to resume negotiations with the operators. These had been recessed September 11, so Lewis could put the policy questions before the convention.

Wage Question To Lewis

Lewis was ill in a Washington hospital and did not get to the convention, but in effect the delegates dumped the question of future wage demands in his lap. Although there had been more than 1,200 resolutions on wage and contract matters, there was no declaration of how much more pay should be sought.

The Krug-Lewis agreement gave the miners an 18½-cent hourly pay boost, a five-cent royalty on each ton of coal for a welfare and retirement fund which already amounts to more than $2,500,000; a federal mine safety code; and provided for following National Labor Relations Board procedures and decisions in the unionization of mine supervisors.

In addition, he renewed a commitment he made last summer to ask Congress to allow thousands of additional displaced persons to enter the United States.

He reiterated his insistence on the prompt admission of 100,000 Jews to Palestine. But in calling for immediate action, he did not fix any specific number simply stressing "substantial immigration."

LaGuardia Leaps Before Looking

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—F. H. LaGuardia, renowned as a big city mayor but not on such solid ground as a naturalist, had a ready explanation today of charges that he was using mules and trucks with "U.S.A." markings to move troops and supplies up to the Trieste area.

"You'll find a good many mules in Yugoslavia with small 'US' branded on their necks," LaGuardia commented.

"We don't brand them on the necks, we brand them on another part of the anatomy," and he thumped himself somewhere below the top of his desk.

In any case, LaGuardia announced he has sent a mission of "high-ranking UNRRA officials" to Yugoslavia. He said he would "take action" if the charges are supported.

Legion Favors Merger Of U. S. Armed Forces

Naval Bloc Suffers Defeat; Paul Griffith Is Elected Commander

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4 (AP)—The American Legion went on record by uproarious voice today in favor of a single department of national security in the President's Cabinet and a unified command of all military forces. A half-hour battle by the Legion's naval bloc against the resolution preceded the vote.

Delegate Lawrence Quigley, Chelsea, Mass., commander of the Massachusetts Department, led the opposition, asserting that a single department of security was a job for Congress and that "I do not believe the American Legion should be requested to pull chestnuts out of the fire for any one."

The vote in favor of a unified command emphasized the Legion's belief that the Air Force should have equal status with the Army and Navy.

Griffith Elected Commander
By acclamation and without opposition, the Legion chose as its new commander, Paul H. Griffith, Uniontown, Pa., who made it clear in his acceptance speech there would be no relaxation of the Legion's feud with Gen. Omar N. Bradley over the Veterans' Administration.

The convention reached final adjournment at 3:20 p. m., (6:20 p. m. EST).

Griffith said the Legion would demand the Congress rescind the law which has "crippled the on-the-job training program as administered by the Veterans' Administration."

This week's convention was featured by an attack on the $200-a-month ceiling by retiring Commander John Stelle, of McLeansboro, Ill., and a sharp-tongued defense of it by Gen. Bradley.

Griffith also said he would appoint a special committee to make a preliminary study and report on veterans' housing, adding "We expect to do those things which are necessary to get housing construction actually under way."

Griffith told the Legion that the American Form of Government and "the American way of life" must be defended against growing danger "from without and from within."

Vice-Commanders Named

The Legion elected five vice-commanders, three of them veterans of World War II. They included:

Richard C. Cadallader, 33, Baton Rouge, La., a lieutenant colonel in the Army Corps of Engineers. He also is chairman of the Legion's committee on Veterans' housing.

Martin D. Buckner, 29, Flint, Mich., who served with the 46th Heavy Bombardment Group and flew 35 combat missions in the European theater.

Ernest H. Dervishian, 30, Richmond, Va., lawyer. Dervishian, tech sergeant in the war, won the Congressional Medal of Honor on the Anzio beachhead where he served with the 34th Division.

Inflation Is Still Viewed As Menace

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder tonight told a cross section of the nation's business leaders that inflationary forces still menaced the national economy.

"The sum of industrial strife, and of dislocation and maldistribution that may plague us for some months ahead."

"But I do not think we need put on rose-colored glasses to evaluate these liabilities against our great national assets, and to find that on balance we have a great surplus, one so great that we can turn to the future with optimism."

Snyder made these statements to more than 1,000 industrialists and businessmen at the annual reports ward banquet sponsored by the Financial Forum.

Highest award, the golden "Oscar of All Industry" signifying the best 1945 annual corporate report, was given to the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company.

reporter that mules are hybrids, bred by crossing a horse with a jackass, and they do not reproduce.

The charges arose from published allegations by four unidentified UNRRA workers just back from Yugoslavia that Marshal Tito has been using mules and trucks with "U.S.A." markings to move troops and supplies up to the Trieste area.

"You'll find a good many mules in Yugoslavia with small 'US' branded on their necks," LaGuardia commented.

"We don't brand them on the necks, we brand them on another part of the anatomy," and he thumped himself somewhere below the top of his desk.

In any case, LaGuardia announced he has sent a mission of "high-ranking UNRRA officials" to Yugoslavia. He said he would "take action" if the charges are supported.

Restaurant Meat Price Lids To Rise 15 Per Cent

Man Is In Stitches (Over 500 Of Them) After Knife Attack

GUNTERVILLE, Ala., Oct. 4 (AP)—Two doctors took more than 500 stitches in Bob Allen, 45, Tuesday after he was wounded in a knife attack and he was reported "doing fine" today.

"His body was slashed almost everywhere," said Dr. A. G. Finley, who was assisted by Dr. T. E. Martin in the three and a half hour operation.

"I counted up to 400 stitches and I figure we put in more than a hundred after that."

Police said Allen, a plumber, suffered the wounds in an altercation with another man who was arrested.

On other sectors of the food front there were these developments:

1. The Agriculture Department turned down a request from flour millers to abandon price controls on wheat flour, farina and semolina. The department said these products "must be considered in short supply."

2. In an effort to increase pork supplies for the fall and winter of 1947-48, the Agriculture Department urged farmers to produce a 1947 spring pig crop of 58,000,000 head. This would be 5,876,000 more than the 1946 spring crop.

Truman, Cabinet Discuss Meat
3. The nation's meat shortage was discussed at a meeting between President Truman and his Cabinet. Secretary of Agriculture Anderson told reporters later that government moves to remedy the shortage are under study, but he would not say what they might be.

Completing the abandonment of its attempt to roll back prices of restaurant meat items to the levels of June 30—the date when meat ceilings went off for two months—OPA approved the increase today for all meat meals and meat items.

The announcement ratified a major victory for the restaurant and hotel industries. Many eating places had talked of shutting up shop unless the rollback attempt were dropped.

Restaurant owners had bitterly complained that everyone else selling meats—from packers to butchers—had been allowed price increases since meat ceilings were restored after a two-month hiatus. The restaurant ceilings generally are the prices of April, 1943.

Compute Own Ceilings
OPA announced that individual restaurants and other eating places will compute their own new ceilings, both on meat meals and those containing items not under price (Continued on Page 8, Col. 8)

REDS RESERVE RIGHT TO REOPEN QUESTION

Russia Says It Will Revive Issue At Foreign Ministers' Meeting

PARIS, Saturday, Oct. 5 (AP)—Greece and Yugoslavia were voted $100,000,000 each and Ethiopia was granted $25,000,000 in Italian war reparations early today at a meeting of a European peace conference commission which defeated a proposal to pay reparations also to Albania.

The proposal to pay Italian reparations to Soviet-supported Albania was defeated by a tie vote.

Russia officially reserved the right to fight the reparations question again when the Italian peace treaty comes before the four-power Foreign Ministers' Council for final approval.

The Soviets lost a 10-hour battle to obtain for Albania reparations equal to those given Ethiopia, and to have Yugoslavia paid twice as much as Greece.

The final vote on the reparations issue was 11 to 4, setting Italy's total reparations at $225,000,000, in addition to the $100,000,000 awarded to Russia. Five nations abstained from voting. The Italian Economic Commission's long session ended at 3 a. m. after having been sitting since 4 p. m. with a 90-minute dinner recess.

10-10 Vote On Albania
Russia's notice that she would reopen the discussion at the foreign ministers' meeting was entered in the commission's minutes after the delegates had deadlocked in a 10-10 vote on the question of paying reparations to Albania.

A. A. Arutunian, Russian delegate, declared that he reserved "the right of the four delegations responsible for the final writing of the peace treaty" to maintain its stand in favor of reparations for Albania.

France, China, India and Ethiopia joined the six Slav states in voting favorably to Albania's obtaining some outright reparations payments from Italy. The proposal was rejected by the British disallowed Albania any reparations beyond Italian assets now in Albanian territory.

Before the vote was taken, Arutunian appealed to the United States and Great Britain for "solidarity" to the Allies' war aim "solidarity" to help end the conference deadlock over reparations to Yugoslavia and Albania.

"We must find again the solidarity that led us to victory in the war if we want to win a lasting peace," he said.

Russia, Ethiopia, India, Poland and Czechoslovakia obtained in the final vote setting the total Italian reparations payments, while the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Kilgore Would End May Probe, Sweeney Declares

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 4 (AP)—Thomas B. Sweeney, Republican opponent of Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) in the November 5 elections, said in a statement today that Kilgore had entered into a secret agreement with the White House which would, in effect, "kill" the investigation of Rep. Andrew J. May's war contract allegations.

Kilgore, chairman of the War Investigating Committee, said in Charleston that "when Rep. May informs the committee that he is physically able to testify, the committee will be glad to hear his testimony."

And in Huntington, W. Va., May's personal attorney, Dr. John Archer, Prestonburg, Ky., said the 71-year-old Democrat now is physically able to appear in Washington for brief periods of questioning "if certain restraint were used."

Earlier the three refused point-blank to leave their cells in the Nuernberg jail unless they were given safe escort to homes they believed were all lined up for them to start their lives anew after their acquittal on Tuesday by the International Military Tribunal.

Wage Question To Lewis
Lewis was ill in a Washington hospital and did not get to the convention, but in effect the delegates dumped the question of future wage demands in his lap. Although there had been more than 1,200 resolutions on wage and contract matters, there was no declaration of how much more pay should be sought.

The Krug-Lewis agreement gave the miners an 18½-cent hourly pay boost, a five-cent royalty on each ton of coal for a welfare and retirement fund which already amounts to more than $2,500,000; a federal mine safety code; and provided for following National Labor Relations Board procedures and decisions in the unionization of mine supervisors.

LaGuardia Leaps Before Looking

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—F. H. LaGuardia, renowned as a big city mayor but not on such solid ground as a naturalist, had a ready explanation today of charges that Yugoslavia has been using UNRRA mules for its army.

LaGuardia, the UNRRA director-general, delivered to a news conference this theory as to how the charges arose:

"The American Army presented some mules to the Yugoslav army some months ago. UNRRA sent other mules there for relief and rehabilitation work. Time passed, and the Yugoslavs did a little mule-swapping among themselves—for breeding purposes," LaGuardia said.

This satisfied the questioners, temporarily. But after the conference was over and LaGuardia had departed, it dawned on at least one

Naval Bloc Suffers Defeat; Paul Griffith Is Elected Commander

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 4. (AP)—The American Legion went on record by uproarious voice today in favor of a single department of national security in the President's Cabinet and a unified command of all military forces. A half-hour battle by the Legion's naval bloc against the resolution preceded the vote.

Delegate Lawrence Quigley, Chelsea, Mass., commander of the Massachusetts Department, led the opposition, asserting that a single department of security was a job for Congress and that "I do not believe in relaxation of the Legion's feud with the Navy."

The vote in favor of a unified command emphasized the Legion's belief that the Air Force should have equal status with the Army and Navy.

Griffith Elected Commander
By acclamation and without opposition, the Legion chose as its new commander, Paul H. Griffith, Uniontown, Pa., who made it clear in his acceptance speech there would be no relaxation of the Legion's feud with the Navy.

The convention reached final adjournment at 3:20 p. m. (6:20 p. m. EST).

Griffith said the Legion would demand the Congress rescind the law which has "crippled the on-the-job training program as administered by the Veterans' Administration."

This week's convention was featured by an attack on the $200-a-month ceiling by retiring Commander John Stelle, of McLeanboro, Ill., and a sharp-tongued defense of it by Gen. Bradley.

Griffith also said he would appoint a special committee to make a preliminary study and report on veterans' housing, adding "we expect to do those things which are necessary to get housing construction actually under way."

Griffith told the Legion that the American Form of Government and "the American way of life" must be defended against growing danger "from without and from within."

Vice-Commanders Named
The Legionaires voted five vice-commanders three of them veterans of World War II. They included:

Richard C. Cadallader, 33, Baton Rouge, La., a lieutenant colonel in the Army Corps of Engineers. He also is chairman of the Legion's new committee on Veterans' housing.

Martin D. Buckner, 29, Flint, Mich., who served with the 466th Heavy Bombardment Group and flew 35 combat missions in the European theater.

Ernest H. Dervishian, 30, Richmond, Va., lawyer. Dervishian, a tech sergeant in the war, won the Congressional Medal of Honor on the Anzio beachhead where he served with the 34th Division.

Inflation Is Still Viewed As Menace

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder tonight told a cross section of the nation's business leaders that inflationary forces still menaced the national economy.

"They are still with us," he added, "the symptoms of industrial strife, and of dislocation and maldistribution that may plague us for some months ahead."

"But I do not think we need put on rose-colored glasses to evaluate these liabilities against our great national assets, and to find that on balance we have a great surplus, one so great that we can turn to the future with optimism."

Snyder made these statements to more than 1,000 industrialists and businessmen at the annual reports award banquet sponsored by the Financial World.

Highest award, the golden "Oscar of All Industry" signifying the best 1945 annual corporation report, was given to the Cressapeake and Ohio Railway Company.

reporter that mules are hybrids, bred by crossing a horse with a jackass, and they do not reproduce.

The charges arose from published allegations by four unidentified UNRRA workers just back from Yugoslavia that Marshal Tito has been using mules and trucks with "U.S.A." markings to move troops and supplies up to the Trieste area.

"You'll find a good many mules in Yugoslavia with small 'US' branded on their necks," LaGuardia commented.

"We don't brand them on the neck—we brand them on another part of the anatomy," he thumped himself somewhere below the top of his desk.

In any case, LaGuardia announced he has sent a mission of "high ranking UNRRA officials" to Yugoslavia. He said he would "take action" if the charges are supported.

Man Is In Stitches (Over 500 Of Them) After Knife Attack

GUNTERVILLE, Ala., Oct. 4. (AP)—Two doctors took more than 500 stitches in Bob Allen, 45, Tuesday after he was wounded in a knife attack and he was reported "doing fine" today.

"His body was slashed" almost everywhere," said Dr. A. G. Finley, who was assisted by Dr. T. E. Martin in the three and a half hour operation.

"I counted up to 400 stitches and I figure we put in more than a hundred after that."

Police said Allen, a plumber, suffered the wounds in an altercation with another man who was arrested.

Acquitted Nazis Still Seek Haven

Schacht, Fritzsche And Von Papen Remain In Nuernberg Jail

NUERNBERG, Oct. 4. (AP)—Three top Nazis acquitted of war crimes were rebuffed today in their efforts to quit their jail cells and win safe escort to homes where they could live without fear of the actions of their countrymen.

United States headquarters announced that British authorities refused to let Hermann Schacht and Hans Fritzsche enter their zone, and the French rejected the plea of Franz Von Papen to live in their zone.

An official British army announcement issued in Herford said "the attitude of British authorities to any application from the three acquitted men to enter the British zone is 'no'."

"British authorities consider that they should go to the zones in which they were domiciled," the statement added.

The United States Army headquarters statement said the trio would be given time to pick new places, and if they were accepted they would be given safe conduct to the borders of the zone involved in order to protect them against mob violence.

Earlier the three refused point-blank to leave their cells in the Nuernberg jail unless they were given safe escort to homes they had believed were all lined up for them to start their lives anew after their acquittal on Tuesday by the International Military Tribunal.

GIs To Be Discharged Directly From Camps

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4. (AP)—The War Department authorized today the discharge of GIs directly from Army camps in the United States, by-passing separation centers.

Eventually all but three of the present centers will be closed, it was announced.

These separation centers, through which several million men have been routed since V-J Day, will continue to be used for men arriving from overseas for discharge, and for men at posts where adequate facilities are not available.

Peace Parley Group Rejects Albanian Claim

Greece And Yugoslavia Voted $100,000,000, Ethiopia $25,000,000

REDS RESERVE RIGHT TO REOPEN QUESTION

Russia Says It Will Revive Issue At Foreign Ministers' Meeting

PARIS, Saturday, Oct. 6. (AP)—Greece and Yugoslavia were voted $100,000,000 each and Ethiopia was granted $25,000,000 in Italian war reparations early today at a meeting of a European peace conference commission which defeated a proposal to pay reparations also to Albania.

The proposal to pay Italian reparations to Soviet-supported Albania was defeated by a tie vote.

Russia officially reserved the right to fight the reparations question again when the Italian peace treaty comes before the four-power Foreign Ministers' Council for final approval. The Soviets lost a 10-hour battle to obtain for Albania reparations equal to those given Ethiopia, and to have Yugoslavia paid twice as much as Greece.

The final vote on the reparations issue was 11 to 4, setting Italy's total reparations at $225,000,000, in addition to the $100,000,000 awarded to Russia. Five nations abstained from voting. The Italian Economic Commission's long session ended at 3 a. m. after having been sitting since 4 p. m., with a 90-minute dinner recess.

10-10 Vote On Albania
Russia's notice that she would reopen the discussion at the foreign ministers' meeting was entered in the commission's minutes after the delegates had deadlocked in a 10-10 vote on the question of paying reparations to Albania.

A. A. Arutunian, Russian delegate, declared that he reserved "the right of the Soviet delegation, as one of the four delegations responsible for the final writing of the peace treaty," to maintain his stand in favor of reparations for Albania.

France, China, India and Ethiopia joined the six Slav states in voting favorably to Albania's obtaining some outright reparations payments from Italy. The proposal advanced by the British disallowed Albania any reparations beyond Italian assets now in Albanian territory.

Before the vote was taken, Arutunian appealed to the United States and Great Britain in the name of the Allies' wartime "solidarity" to help end the conference deadlock over reparations to Yugoslavia and Albania.

"We must find again the solidarity that led us to victory in the war if we want to win a lasting peace," he said.

Russia, Ethiopia, India, Poland and Czechoslovakia abstained in the final vote setting the total Italian reparations payments, while the (Continued on Page 8, Col. 2)

Kilgore Would End May Probe, Sweeney Declares

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 4. (AP)—Thomas B. Sweeney, Republican opponent of Sen. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) in the November 5 elections, said in a statement today that Kilgore had entered into a secret agreement with the White House which would, in effect, "kill" the investigation of Rep. Andrew J. May's war contract activities.

Kilgore, chairman of the War Investigating Committee, said in Charleston that "when Rep. May informs the committee that he is physically able to testify, the committee will be glad to hear his testimony."

And in Huntington, W. Va., May's personal attorney, Dr. John Archer Prestonsburg, Ky., said the 71-year-old Democrat now is physically able to appear in Washington for brief periods of questioning "if certain restraints were used."

23 Negroes Innocent, Two Guilty In Columbia, Tenn., Race Rioting

LAWRENCEBURG, Tenn., Oct. 4. (AP)—An all-white jury composed mostly of farmers returned a verdict of innocent in the cases of 23 negroes charged in connection with nearby Columbia's racial disorders, but found two others guilty of assault with intent to commit murder and fixed their sentences at "not more than 21 years" in the penitentiary.

The jury reached its verdict after one hour and 53 minutes of deliberation. Herbert Patterson, a merchant and foreman of the jury which required six weeks to select, handed the verdict a few minutes later to Circuit Judge Joe M. Ingram, who read it in open court.

Robert Gentry and John McKivens were the defendants found guilty of an attack upon Pastor William Wilford, of Columbia, one of four officers who entered the Mink Slide negro business block of Columbia the night of February 25 following a day of mounting racial tension. Wilford was seriously injured by shotgun blasts 23 of the negroes were accused of firing.

Two other Columbia negroes, Julius Blair, 76-year-old businessman and political leader, and James Morton, an undertaker, were found innocent of being accessory to the attack and 21 others were absolved of the actual assault.

Ingram thanked the jury and said: "You have rendered a great service."

L. A. Ransom, Washington, D. C., lawyer for the National Association for Advancement of Colored People and for the defendants, announced that he would ask a new trial for the pair convicted on the 14th day of the trial.

Baltimore Port Tieups Curtail Strip Mining

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 4 (P) — Baltimore port tieups due to labor disputes have curtailed strip mining in Western Maryland, Chief Mine Engineer John J. Rutledge, of the Bureau of Mines, disclosed today.

Back from a field trip in Allegheny and Garrett counties, Dr. Rutledge said that the slackened mining operations would mean less coal for export.

"There are virtually no places that stockpile coal, so that when it cannot move from mines, operations must be curtailed."

He said that a shortage of coal cars previously reported "hasn't improved much." Railroads are making efforts to meet the problem he explained, by using cars of out-of-state roads to move Maryland coal.

Baltimore Port Tieups Curtail Strip Mining

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 4 (P) — Baltimore port tieups due to labor disputes have curtailed strip mining in Western Maryland. Chief Mine Engineer John J. Rutledge, of the Bureau of Mines, disclosed today.

Back from a field trip in Allegany and Garrett counties, Dr. Rutledge said that the slackened mining operations would mean less coal for export.

"There are virtually no places that stockpile coal, so that when it cannot move from mines, operations must be curtailed."

He said that a shortage of coal cars previously reported "hasn't improved much." Railroads are making efforts to meet the problem he explained, by using cars of out-of-state roads to move Maryland coal.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Veteran Advised Not To Let Frivolous Girl
Make A Sucker Out Of Him
By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax: Since my return from overseas, I met a very attractive young girl, am four years older than she. I have known her now for two months and have fallen very much in love with her. I have told her that, and she keeps saying she loves me, but she never believes anything I ever say to her. When we're out on the street, she doesn't want to take my arm and she looks all around and friends she forgets all about me and is entirely set on what her friends are talking about, and it's generally other boys. I can't figure it out.

"A GUY IN LOVE."

You seem to have fallen in love with a very frivolous and silly girl. You don't say how old you are, but, if she is four years younger than you, perhaps it's just that she is not old enough yet to get serious about anyone. She might even be at the giggling teen age when, as you put it, "everything in trousers" interests her.

My advice to you—though you probably will not take it—is to forget about this girl and look around for someone a little more serious-minded.

Dear Miss Fairfax: I am a woman of 25 and the mother of four children.

My husband claims he loves me, yet he is continuously going out with other women and we have quarreled and separated three times in the past two years. Now he has asked me for a divorce.

I love my husband, and I am sure he loves me, yet he gives me no reason for his strange actions. I have filed suit for divorce but, in the end, I couldn't go through with it. I want to make him happy yet I don't want to lose him.

Shall I consent to this crazy whim of his, or hold on to a life of continuous loneliness and heartache? Is it so wrong for me to want to be wanted?

"IMPATIENT."

Of course it is not wrong for you to "want to be wanted;" everyone does. But, at the same time, frankly, it certainly does not appear to me that your husband wants you. You say you are sure he loves you, yet he asks you for a divorce so that he can be free to go to some other woman. This certainly doesn't sound like love.

Since you are so unhappy now, and so lonely, do you think you would be any worse off if you were actually divorced? Is it really worth it to you to hang on to a man who seems to want to get away from you? What happiness can there be in that?

If you are only 25, it is perfectly possible for you—even though it would be hard, of course—to find new happiness, either by yourself with your children, or perhaps, eventually, with another husband. Many women have been faced with this problem and have worked out of it and found new happiness. You can, too, if you have sufficient determination and will-power.

Three Trucking Firms Resume Operations Here

Partial trucking service was resumed here yesterday morning when about 25 drivers and warehousemen of the Glenn Morris Transfer, Crites Transfer and Chaney Transportation Company, strikebound since Labor Day, resumed work after the reaching of an agreement which E. The union, which is preventing trucking activities of the Steina, Novick, Charlton and Cumberland Motor Express trucking firms, did not disclose the terms of the agreement. Some 50 workers are on strike at the four establishments.

Two other firms, the Maryland and Shipway Motor Lines, settled with the union during the first week of the strike, Stutzman said.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Is courtesy disappearing from this earth as something too old-fashioned to further cultivate and make a continuing asset? I wonder. There were times when it was a most valuable stock in trade. In stores it was insisted upon as a prime requisite. And children in families were instructed in it, along with their A, B, C's.

In John Drinkwater's play "Abraham Lincoln," I distinctly recall how Lincoln was always saying, "Thank you." And that other expression, "If you please," what a delightful phrase it is when used and uttered in sincerity!

It would be an encouraging and wholesome procedure if world diplomats would read history a little and become informed on mere courtesy among great states. It is alarming to read of the talk now going on in high councils, where such words as "har" and "war monger" are used so flippantly. We need a few re-incarnated Benjamin Franklins in this day and age, to give new zest to friendliness and international courtesy.

There was a time when all merchants welcomed customers, no matter from where. Now there are too many who pay favors only to "the elect." There will come a time when they will seek out customers, and pay money to get their good will and trade. Courtesy is often the best capital that a person can have, when initiating an enterprise.

These are times, especially in cities, when restaurants are very crowded, but I wandered into one recently that I had never been to. There were those waiting, but the hostess came to me with a smile, handed me a menu, and told me that it would be only a short wait and to make myself comfortable. Soon I had a seat, and another smiling person came to take my order. Then later another one came to ask if everything was all right and if I was enjoying my meal. The body takes care of its food in glorious fashion when all things are pleasant while eating.

Courtesy is good will. It has made people wealthy, as well as happy. It is an investment that doesn't go up and down, like stocks on the Exchange. It is always going up!

You say you are sure he loves you, yet he asks you for a divorce so that he can be free to go to some other woman. This certainly doesn't sound like love.

Since you are so unhappy now, and so lonely, do you think you would be any worse off if you were actually divorced? Is it really worth it to you to hang on to a man who seems to want to get away from you? What happiness can there be in that?

If you are only 25, it is perfectly possible for you—even though it would be hard, of course—to find new happiness, either by yourself with your children, or perhaps, eventually, with another husband. Many women have been faced with this problem and have worked out of it and found new happiness. You can, too, if you have sufficient determination and will-power.

Three Trucking Firms Resume Operations Here

Partial trucking service was resumed here yesterday morning when about 25 drivers and warehousemen of the Glenn Morris Transfer, Crites Transfer and Chaney Transportation Company, strikebound since Labor Day, resumed work after the reaching of an agreement which "E. Stutzman, business manager of Local 453, Teamsters Union termed "satisfactory."

The union, which is preventing trucking activities of the Steina, Novick, Charlton and Cumberland Motor Express trucking firms, did not disclose the terms of the agreement. Some 50 workers are on strike at the four establishments.

Two other firms, the Maryland and Shipway Motor Lines, settled with the union during the first week of the strike, Stutzman said.

Post Urges Employment Of Handicapped Persons

Mayor Thomas S. Post yesterday asked the aid of all citizens in behalf of handicapped persons, in a statement noting the observance of "National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week," from October 6 to 12.

The mayor said that all local employers, civic leaders and others interested in the program should give consideration to hiring of handicapped workers, both veterans and non-veterans.

Richard Kenneth Dixon, 18, of 221 Davidson street, enlisted for 18 months in the Pacific area.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

It is curious disappearing from this earth as something too old-fashioned to further cultivate and make a continuing asset? I wonder. There were times when it was a most valuable stock in trade. In stores it was insisted upon as a prime requisite. And children in families were instructed in it, along with their A, B, C's.

In John Drinkwater's play "Abraham Lincoln," I distinctly recall how Lincoln was always saying, "Thank you." And that other expression, "If you please," what a delightful phrase it is when used and uttered in sincerity!

It would be an encouraging and wholesome procedure if world diplomats would read history a little and become informed on mere courtesy among great states. It is alarming to read of the talk now going on in high councils, where such words as "flar" and "war monger" are used so flippantly. We need a few re-incarnated Benjamin Franklins in this day and age, to give new zest to friendliness and international courtesy.

There was a time when all merchants welcomed customers, no matter from where. Now there are too many who pay favors only to "the elect." There will come a time when they will seek out customers, and pay money to get their good will and trade. Courtesy is often the best capital that a person can have, when initiating an enterprise.

These are times, especially in cities, when restaurants are very crowded, but I wandered into one recently that I had never been to. There were those waiting, but the hostess came to me with a smile, handed me a menu, and told me that it would be only a short wait and to make myself comfortable. Soon I had a seat, and another smiling person came to take my order. Then later another one came to ask if everything was all right and if I was enjoying my meal. The body takes care of its food in glorious fashion when all things are pleasant while eating.

Courtesy is good will. It has made people wealthy, as well as happy. It is an investment that doesn't go up and down, like stocks on the Exchange. It is always going up!

You can't own too many Thanks and if you please.

Legion Should Be Guided By Leaders Of Victory

American Legion officers are on record in favor of four months' training despite Secretary of War Patterson's request, made before the convention of Legionnaires in San Francisco, for six months' basic training as provided in the War Department's universal military training plans. While it is to be regretted that such a program of military preparedness must be inaugurated by a nation that has shunned all acts of militarism, it is our belief the Legion will serve the cause of peace and national security by endorsing Mr. Patterson's proposal. But as a matter of pride and prestige the Legionnaires may choose to make a fight for a four months' program. Such a decision would serve no good purpose.

The War Department's original request was for a year's basic training. In recent months, under orders from General Eisenhower, its General Staff has seriously considered (1) nine months, (2) six months, (3) four months of basic training. It has been determined that any plan requiring less than six months would be a waste of taxpayers' money. Funds so spent could be better diverted to other phases of national defense, as vital as universal military training appears to be.

The considered judgement of General Eisenhower and his staff, in matters of national defense policy of such magnitude, should prevail. They have the responsibility. The War Department has conceded much. It has agreed to cut its original basic training period in half, and to accept the six alternatives embodied in the Legion's bill. But six months is its minimum—a bare minimum. There are many issues with which the veterans of World War I are better able to cope than the veterans of World War II. The younger men are fortunate to have the counsel and guidance of the Legion's older heads. But there is one subject on which the young soldier can speak with authority—the training required for modern warfare. World War II veterans in the Legion's membership know only too well that the science and technique of war today—and tomorrow—cannot be mastered in four months.

Men who only recently climbed out of foxholes of Okinawa and Bastogne, who fought in the filth and slime of Guadalcanal and on the beaches of North Africa and Normandy, know that the soldier of tomorrow cannot be adequately trained on schedules of twenty-eight years ago. Here is an issue on which World War II Legionnaires are better qualified to take the lead in shaping Legion policy. Political considerations and personal pride should be swept aside. It is our belief the Legion can advance American preparedness by throwing its full weight behind the military training program worked out by the men who led us to victory in global war.

Although the festive day is approaching, Washington is engrossed in minor matters to such an extent no announcement of a change in the date for Thanksgiving has been made.

Senator Taft Has New Approach On Medical Aid

In a recent radio debate, Senator Taft listed some cogent objections to the pending Wagner-Murray-Dingell public health bill.

Under the terms of this measure, the Senator pointed out, every man and woman in the country would have to pay for sickness insurance whether it was desired or not. The cost would amount to three or four per cent of every worker's wages, and might reach six per cent. The Federal government would have to establish a vast administrative organization to supervise and pay every doctor in the nation. In effect, to quote Senator Taft, "Every doctor becomes a Federal employee. Health service will be nationalized and a Federal bureau will tell everyone what kind of service his insurance covers, when he can have a doctor and when he cannot, how many patients a doctor can have, when and how often the doctor can call at his home, and all the details of medical service. This vast system of Federally-employed physicians will practically supersede our entire medical system."

Another bill introduced in Congress, and supported by Senator Taft, takes a different approach to the problem. It would give the states Federal aid to fill up gaps in medical service. It would place the administration where it belongs—in the states and local communities which are conversant with their own needs.

It would provide medical service only for those who cannot pay for it—not for those who are perfectly able to pay under the present system. And it would encourage the establishment of voluntary health insurance plans for those who wish them.

This is the intelligent, reasonable approach to the problem. The Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bill, for all the good motives behind it, would tend to destroy medical initiative and research, and bureaucratize the profession. It would to a large extent remove the individual's freedom of choice in selecting a doctor. And in the long run, many authorities believe, its effect on the national health would be actually deleterious.

The waves of strikes we are having more properly could be called breakers.

Garrulous Shakespeare

Dr. William Strunk, professor emeritus of English at Cornell University, who died recently, became convinced after an experience with the filming of Shakespeare in Hollywood, that the motion picture was a good medium for the Bard because all the dramatic dialogue could be retained and action could be substituted for the less dramatic passages. He served as literary consultant in 1935 for the Hollywood production of Romeo and Juliet.

Dr. Strunk went to Hollywood with deep misgivings about the ability of Hollywood to do right by Shakespeare. It would be redundant to say that the producers had their anxieties concerning Dr. Strunk. But they learned that they had not made a mistake in taking on the Cornell professor, when they cautiously introduced the subject of cutting down on some of the Bard's speeches.

"Shakespeare," said Dr. Strunk, "never said anything in six lines that could be said in 24." The fact that critics termed the production a fine picture testifies to the practicality of this professor and the artistic potential latent in Hollywood.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PSYCHIC FACTORS IN FATIGUE

WEAKNESS and fatigue are common complaints. What are the possibilities that illness is responsible? Allan analyzed the records of 300 men and women who were weary that they deemed examination advisable. Each was studied thoroughly and many laboratory procedures were performed. Physical disorders were discovered in only 20 per cent. In 28 cases there was obvious disease, whereas in 20 more it was found only after numerous checkups. The remaining 150 were borderline and, in order to come to a definite diagnosis, special tests were necessary.

The ailments consisted chiefly of chronic infections of the chest and urinary tract. A few had diabetes, thyroid deficiencies, heart trouble, anemia, and various neurological conditions. Vitamins played a role in only one instance, which is surprising in view of the widespread publicity to the contrary. Even constipation, which is blamed so frequently, was not guilty in any instance.

Sluggish liver was also conspicuous by its absence. This is to be suspected because it is usually associated with other gastrointestinal symptoms. On the other hand, those who have been jaundiced recently may continue to feel below par for several months thereafter. Eight patients in the series had cardiac disease. Cancer was found in two; this affliction seldom leads to low vitality until far advanced.

Since no abnormality could be detected in 80 per cent of the total, nervousness was considered the major factor. This origin was substantiated by going into more detail on the nature of the disturbances. Many patients encountered the high point of weariness in the morning but improvement occurred as the day progressed and routine work was completed. Normally one should feel tops before noon and tired at the end of the afternoon. Moreover, if diseases were present, exertion would have a tendency to aggravate the manifestation. Others of the group had days of excellent vigor, followed by periods of exhaustion. Here too we have an unusual situation for it is hard to believe that a lesion such as cancer might have an adverse effect at one time and none at another.

There was further evidence that the nervous system was the source. Suspicion is engendered when we encounter a person who is cured in one day after the use of vitamins, thyroid, and iron, which are known to have a slow action. The same might be said of an individual who has experienced debility for two or three years without any sign of a physical disorder. Surely in all this time the culprit would have been revealed had it been of a serious nature. In addition to weariness, some are bothered by a lump in the throat, tension in the back of the neck, and difficulty in drawing a deep breath.

The point should be stressed that all who are nervous are not neurotic. In only one case was a neurosis present; the origin lay in internal conflicts and maladjustments. The victim of nervous exhaustion or fatigue is often overworking or obtaining insufficient sleep. With lowered resistance, worries, stresses, and strains are actually beyond their endurance. Some were weak with a constitution incapable of withstanding certain types of occupation. When told that nothing is wrong, relief follows. Conversely the neurotic is more likely to be disappointed and insist that he is really ill.

Weakness and fatigue often disappear when the sufferer gets down to earth. Most of us feel better after banishing worries, controlling the tendency to fret and fuss, or obtaining a job which does not push us too far. Stamina may be improved by exercise and a general upbuilding of the body.

SALIVARY STONES
F. C. writes: I am subject to stone formation in the salivary glands. Can diet influence this condition in any way?

REPLY
I doubt it, as these calculi are more likely to form when the duct becomes inflamed or partially obstructed by masses of bacteria.

AGING COLON
Mrs. W. writes: What can be done for gray hairs of the intestine? X-rays show them definitely.

REPLY
This is a new one on me as I have never heard this expression used. Hair does not grow in the intestine. Physicians have many pet expressions to describe various ailments. Consequently I would suggest that you ask the physician what he meant.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Held off commenting on Wallace's famous speech that led to his resignation until my Washington spies sent me the straight dope. Now I have it. . . . It seems that Truman didn't really okay the speech, he just got it mixed up in his sheet music.

The speech left Truman agast. . . . agast. . . . That's a White House term meaning, "That's what happens when you hire a man from Iowa."

Personally, I was sorry to see it happen to Henry because years ago he showed me how to develop a new hybrid type of corn. . . . and in my business a new type of corn is always more than welcome.

San Quentin authorities are very interested in the famous Wallace letter that was lost. . . . They say it's the first time in history anyone ever got into trouble sneaking a file out of some place.

One thing the whole deal revealed was that the Harry S. Truman man does really stand for something. Silent, you stay. Sound off, you scream!

Wall Street Wants Margin-Trading Reduced; Pres. Truman Tries To Pacify Mexican President On Meat Embargo; Admiral Halsey Gets Bored With Job

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A significant battle over the stock market has been taking place backstage between two-listed Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles and Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock Exchange. The outcome concerns every investor in the country.

Schram and the big Wall Street brokers are demanding that the government again permit margin-buying. Eccles has been militantly opposed.

Schram and friends say that if stocks can be purchased partly on credit, it will bolster the falling market.

Eccles on the other hand is dead opposed to speculation on credit during the present inflationary period. He is also reluctant to encourage the public to get in on a stock market which has been in history during September. In that month the value of securities dropped eight billion dollars, more than twice as much as during "Black October, 1929."

Eccles' advisers argue that the only thing which prevented the market drop from becoming a complete financial disaster was the no-margin rule, which meant that every legal trader in the stock market was buying for cash. Thus, when prices dropped, there was no rush to borrow money to cover the drop. As a result of this insistence on no margins, the effect on the country was cushioned.

Eccles, his friends say, is not going to budge on the no-margin rule now.

LaGuardia Sees Stalin

When UNRRA Director LaGuardia and aide visited Moscow on their recent tour of Europe, his entire party was eager to see Stalin. The Kremlin invitation, however, only permitted LaGuardia and two other UNRRA officials to call on the top Soviet leader.

LaGuardia, therefore, suggested to his aide, Joseph Lilly, that he divert the rest of the party by taking them to Lenin's tomb, where the body of the Father of the Russian Revolution is still perfectly preserved.

Late that night, the party reassembled, and Lilly eagerly asked LaGuardia what he had learned from Stalin. Replied Lilly: "I got as much out of Stalin as you did out of Lenin."

Mexican Meat Ban

So much friction has been kicked up by the U. S. embargo against Mexican cattle and hoof-and-mouth disease that President Truman has taken the unusual step of writing a personal letter to the President of Mexico about it. In his letter Truman backed up the Agriculture Department's embargo and denied that it was inspired by U. S. cattlemen who want to avoid Mexican competition.

Truman told the Mexican chief executive that he believed the ban was entirely justified as a precautionary measure against the threat of hoof-and-mouth disease, adding that it would be rescinded only when officials of the Department's Animal Husbandry Division were satisfied no danger exists.

Cause of all the trouble is some breeder bulls which Mexico imported from Brazil.

Real fact is that more than a year ago, when Mexican stock raisers were arranging to purchase the Brazilian bulls, the Agriculture Department warned Mexico that entry of the animals might bring a U. S. embargo on all Mexican cattle. Officials explained that disease control in Brazil was inadequate and that several epidemics of the dread hoof-and-mouth malady had been recorded there during the past two decades.

This warning was ignored. One hundred and sixteen Brazilian bulls were cleared through the Mexican quarantine station on Sacrificios Island, in the Gulf of Mexico off Veracruz, and brought to the mainland. A few months later, the Mexicans placed a second order for 327 additional bulls.

On June 4 of this year, while that second shipment was en route to Sacrificios, the Agriculture Department banned all Mexican cattle from entering the United States. Agricultural attaches of the U. S. Embassy had reported that a number of the original bulls from Brazil showed symptoms of being hoof-and-mouth disease carriers.

Theoretically, the second lot of 327 bulls has been held intact on Sacrificios pending exhaustive tests by a joint commission of U. S. and Mexican government veterinarians. Officials say the truth is, however, that nearly a score of these animals have already found their way to the mainland.

These are the facts which led to the Agriculture Department to copy its embargo, with President Truman's official approval, in the face of vigorous protests from both Mexican and Brazilian cattle interests, as well as some breeders in the U. S.

Note—The ban on Mexican cattle today helps contribute to the meat shortage, since Mexican beef—much of it owned by U. S. ranchers—has always sold north of the border in large quantities in the past.

Admiral Halsey Gets Bored

Admiral William "Bull" Halsey is beginning to fidget in his new job on the President's super-navy board of five-star Army-Navy officers.

Since his semi-diplomatic mission to South America, where he inspected the navies of various countries, Halsey has had little to do. Privately, the tough little skipper hankers to take that job as vice-president of Pan American Airways, which is still open to him.

As the boss of Pan Am's West Coast operation, Halsey would double his present income, which is about $13,000 a year, counting longevity pay. However, he isn't interested in the extra money. His sparkplug temperament craves action, in or out of the Navy. And life is becoming very dull in his spacious office at the Navy Department.

"It's a hell of a note," Halsey grumbled to aides recently. "I have a job with nothing to do, a great big office to do it in and two people to help me."

"Russia Wants Peace"—Smith

Ambassador "Beetle" Smith has sent a confidential memo to the State Department saying he believes Marshal Stalin was sincere in his recent statement that peace between the major powers is likely during the coming years.

Ambassador Smith pointed out that the Russian five-year plan is aimed more at the reconstruction of Nazi-devastated areas than at an armaments program for world aggression, and expressed belief that Russia might consider a proposal for general world disarmament if advanced by the U. S.

The Ambassador also reported that the Russians desperately need manpower for reconstruction and would like to use part of their 4,000,000-man army for that purpose.

Truman Gags Self On Matters Of Foreign Issues

By MARK SULLIVAN

President Truman's press conference this week had two main characteristics. One was what Mr. Truman conspicuously emphasized; the other, what he conspicuously steered clear of.

The thing avoided was foreign relations. To practically every question in that field Mr. Truman's reply was a terse declaration of no comment; and he has learned to say these two words with firmness and finally.

A subject important and delicate in foreign relations had loomed high in the morning papers. Mr. Bernard M. Baruch, responsible for the official American plan in international matters having to do with the atomic bomb, had made a startling statement about Mr. Henry A. Wallace, in his utterances on the subject and the special Secretary Burnes had made five mistakes of fact; that Mr. Wallace had admitted the mistakes and had agreed to correct them, but had later withdrawn from his undertaking to make correction.

About this, many questions were in newsmen's minds, but only one was asked. It received from Mr. Truman a declaration of no comment, so prompt and terse that other questions on the Baruch-Wallace affair were forestalled. Similarly, about negotiations with the British on Jewish immigration into Palestine, there was no comment. There was none about the return of our ambassador to Russia from Paris to Moscow. There was none about the relations in the form of off hand replies to unexpected questions at press conferences. This has now been so well proved that it ought to have the standing of a fixed rule of conduct for the Presidential office. It was learned even by President Roosevelt. He was deft in answering questions and enjoyed answering them; but after some experience, early in his Administration his routine reply to questions about foreign relations was that the questioner should ask the State Department.

Sounding Board Of Optimism

The subject that President Truman emphasized at his press conference this week was reconversion, the progress made in it. This he gave at the beginning, without waiting for questions; quite apparently he was taking advantage of the press conference as a sounding board for optimism. He said he would like to call attention to some high-lights in a report just made by Reconversion Director John Steelman.

The high-lights included: 58 million persons at work, an all-time high. Only 2 million out of employment, and most of these merely in process of going from one job to another. Business profits at an all-time high. Farm income at an all-time high. National income at a point which, on an annual basis, would be 172 billion dollars a year, an all-time high. To these statements in the Steelman report, President Truman confidently added an expectation, that the budget will be balanced the present year.

These figures the newsmen listened to, and took home with them copies of the complete Steelman report. They knew the facts to be correct, but knew also the scarleties they had themselves encountered—meat,

Republican Cooperation In World Peace Aims Praised By Mr. Byrnes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—It was a simply worded speech by Secretary of State Byrnes delivered in Paris and it did not get entangled with the Wallace-Truman controversy, as some had surmised in advance. Yet the address was one of the best that has been made on American foreign policy since the days of Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Byrnes answered isolationists with a clear statement that put the issue on an altogether different ground than it has hitherto been debated.

"The people of the United States," he said, "have discovered that when a European war starts, our own peace and security inevitably become involved before the finish. They have concluded that if they must help finish every European war, it would be better for them to do their part to prevent the starting of a European war."

Essence of U. S. Policy

Here in a single paragraph is the essence of American policy today. Here is the reason for preparedness and adequate defense and here, too, is the main reason for active participation by this country in the United Nations.

Many Americans find European problems remote, if not distasteful, but Mr. Byrnes remarked that this was less important than the dangers that follow. He added:

"Twice in our generation doubt as to American foreign policy have led other nations to miscalculate the consequences of their actions. Twice in our generation that doubt as to American foreign policy has not brought peace, but war."

Here is the heart of the whole program which Mr. Byrnes has set before the world. Whether it is called a "get tough" policy—a phrase our governmental spokesmen have never used—or whether it is called a policy of firm adherence to American ideals and to the sanctity of written pledges, the fact is that the United States stands ready today to defend its policies. No such forthright indication of American foreign policy was given before World War I and none was given before World War II. As a consequence, whatever might have been done to save American lives and prevent war from involving us was not done by our government or by the influential segments of American public opinion which influence government.

Bipartisan Unity Referred To

Secretary Byrnes was very careful not to accuse the Republican Party of obstruction in the 20's—for there were isolationists in both parties—but he made reference to the

Another Significant Passage

Mr. Byrnes' address contained another significant passage. He had an opportunity not only to explain the proposed treaty to keep Germany disarmed but also to reply publicly to Alexander Werth, the British correspondent. The Secretary of State concurred in the Stalin view that "there is no immediate danger of war" and added that he did not believe "any responsible official of any government wants war," but he put the 64 question to the Communist chieftain in this paragraph of common-sense simplicity:

"The difficulty is that while no nation wants war, nations may pursue policies or courses of action which lead to war. Nations may seek political and economic advantages which they cannot obtain without war. That is why if we wish to avoid war, we must deny not only war but the things which lead to war. Just because war is not now imminent, we must take the greatest care not to plant the seeds of a future war."

Plain Warning To Russia

This is a plain warning to Russia and all the world. The United States does not seek war, but other nations must not encroach on our rights or violate pledges or impose settlements by force that can lead to war. No better American answer could have been made, and with a unified America behind that answer, the chances of any responsible official of any government wanting to diminish the American government's position will not be "miscalculated" as it has been twice before.

The total number of automobiles made in the United States this year is only 434,908, as compared with over three times that number—1,449,733—for the same period in a normal year, prewar 1941; and as against a present demand for many millions. The causes of the automobile scarcity, the General Motors report says, are strikes and lack of some materials, the latter being caused in part by strikes.

What General Motors says and what Reconversion Director Steelman says do not disagree. In sum, the Steelman report and it amounts to two things. First, good news of a high level of employment everywhere, and of production in many lines. Second, warning that this high level of production can continue and grow only if there is an ending of wage-raises and strikes, and the price increases which accompany them.

Legion Should Be Guided By Leaders Of Victory

American Legion officers are on record in favor of four months' training despite Secretary of War Patterson's request, made before the convention of Legionnaires in San Francisco, for six months' basic training as provided in the War Department's universal military training plans. While it is to be regretted that such a program of military preparedness must be inaugurated by a nation that has shunned all acts of militarism, it is our belief the Legion will serve the cause of peace and national security by endorsing Mr. Patterson's proposal. But as a matter of pride and prestige the Legionnaires may choose to make a fight for a four months' program. Such a decision would serve no good purpose.

The War Department's original request was for a year's basic training. In recent months, under orders from General Eisenhower, its General Staff has seriously considered (1) nine months, (2) six months, (3) four months of basic training. It has been determined that any plan requiring less than six months would be a waste of taxpayers' money. Funds so spent could be better diverted to other phases of national defense, as vital as universal military training appears to be.

The considered judgment of General Eisenhower and his staff, in matters of national defense policy of such magnitude, should prevail. They have the responsibility. The War Department has conceded much. It has agreed to cut its original basic training period in half, and to accept the six alternatives embodied in the Legion's bill. But six months is its minimum—a bare minimum. There are many issues with which the veterans of World War I are better able to cope than the veterans of World War II. The younger men are fortunate to have the counsel and guidance of the Legion's older heads. But there is one subject on which the young soldier can speak with authority—the training required for modern warfare. World War II veterans in the Legion's membership know only too well that the science and technique of war today—and tomorrow—cannot be mastered in four months.

Men who only recently climbed out of foxholes of Okinawa and Bastogne, who fought in the filth and slime of Guadalcanal and on the beaches of North Africa and Normandy, know that the soldier of tomorrow cannot be adequately trained on schedules of twenty-eight years ago. Here is an issue on which World War II Legionnaires are better qualified to take the lead in shaping Legion policy. Political considerations and personal pride should be swept aside.

It is our belief the Legion can advance American preparedness by throwing its full weight behind the military training program worked out by the men who led us to victory in global war.

Although the festive day is approaching, Washington is engrossed in minor matters to such an extent no announcement of a change in the date for Thanksgiving has been made.

Senator Taft Has New Approach On Medical Aid

In a recent radio debate, Senator Taft listed some cogent objections to the pending Wagner-Murray-Dingell public health bill.

Under the terms of this measure, the Senator pointed out, every man and woman in the country would have to pay for sickness insurance whether it was desired or not. The cost would amount to three or four per cent of every worker's wages, and might reach six per cent. The Federal government would have to establish a vast administrative organization to supervise and pay every doctor in the nation. In effect, to quote Senator Taft, "Every doctor becomes a Federal employee. Health service will be nationalized and a Federal bureau will tell everyone what kind of service his insurance covers, when he can have a doctor and when he cannot, how many patients a doctor can have, when and how often the doctor can call at his home, and all the details of medical service. This vast system of Federally-employed physicians will practically supersede our entire medical system."

Another bill introduced in Congress, and supported by Senator Taft, takes a different approach to the problem. It would give the states Federal aid to fill up gaps in medical service. It would place the administration where it belongs—in the states and local communities which are conversant with their own needs.

It would provide medical service only for those who cannot pay for it—not for those who are perfectly able to pay under the present system. And it would encourage the establishment of voluntary health insurance plans for those who wish them.

This is the intelligent, reasonable approach to the problem. The Wagner-Murray-Dingell Bill, for all the good motives behind it, would tend to destroy medical initiative and research, and bureaucratize the profession. It would to a large extent remove the individual's freedom of choice in selecting a doctor. And in the long run, many authorities believe, its effect on the national health would be actually deleterious.

The waves of strikes we are having more properly could be called breakers.

Garrulous Shakespeare

Dr. William Strunk, professor emeritus of English at Cornell University, who died recently, became convinced after an experience with the filming of Shakespeare in Hollywood, that the motion picture was a good medium for the Bard because all the dramatic dialogue could be retained and action could be substituted for the less dramatic passages. He served as literary consultant in 1935 for the Hollywood production of Romeo and Juliet.

Dr. Strunk went to Hollywood with deep misgivings about the ability of Hollywood to do right by Shakespeare. It would be redundant to say that the producers had their anxieties concerning Dr. Strunk. But they learned that they had not made a mistake in taking on the Cornell professor, when they cautiously introduced the subject of cutting down on some of the Bard's speeches.

"Shakespeare," said Dr. Strunk, "never said anything in six lines that could be said in 24."

The fact that critics termed the production a fine picture testifies to the practicality of the professor and the artistic potential latent in Hollywood.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PSYCHIC FACTORS IN FATIGUE

WEAKNESS and fatigue are common complaints. What are the possibilities that illness is responsible? Allan analyzed the records of 300 men and women who were so weary that they deemed examination advisable. Each was studied thoroughly and many laboratory procedures were performed. Physical disorders were discovered in only 20 per cent. In 28 cases there was obvious disease, whereas in 20 more it was found only after numerous checkups. The remaining 15 were borderline and, in order to come to a definite diagnosis, special tests were necessary.

The ailments consisted chiefly of chronic infections of the chest and urinary tract. A few had diabetes, thyroid deficiencies, heart trouble, anemia, and various neurological conditions. Vitamins played a role in only one instance, which is surprising in view of the widespread publicity to the contrary. Even constipation, which is blamed so frequently, was not guilty in any instance.

Sleazy liver was also conspicuous by its absence. This is to be suspected because it is usually associated with other gastrointestinal symptoms. On the other hand, those who have been jaundiced recently may continue to feel below par for several months thereafter. Eight patients in the series had cardiac disease. Cancer was found in two; this affliction seldom leads to low vitality until far advanced.

Since no abnormality could be detected in 80 per cent of the total, nervousness was considered the major factor. This origin was substantiated by going into more detail on the nature of the disturbances. Many patients encountered the high point of weariness in the morning but improvement occurred as the day progressed and routine work was completed. Normally one should feel topsy after the end of the day. However, if disease were present, exertion would have a tendency to aggravate the manifestation. Others of the group had days of excellent vigor, followed by periods of exhaustion. Here too we have an unusual situation for it is hard to believe that a lesion, such as cancer, might have an adverse effect at one time and not another.

There was further evidence that the nervous system was the source. Suspicion is engendered when we encounter a person who is cured in one day after the use of vitamins. However, it is known to have a slow action. The same might be said of an individual who has experienced debility for two or three years without any sign of a physical disorder. Surely in all this time the culprit would have been revealed had it been of a serious nature. In addition to weariness, some are bothered by a lump in the throat, tension in the back of the neck, and difficulty in drawing a deep breath.

The point should be stressed that all who are nervous are not neurotics. In only one-fifth was a neurosis present; the origin lay in internal conflicts and maladjustments. The victim of nervous exhaustion or fatigue is often over-ambitious or obtains insufficient sleep. With lowered resistance, worries, stresses, and strains are actually beyond their endurance. Some were born with a constitution incapable of withstanding certain types of occupation. When told that nothing is wrong, relief follows. Conversely, if a neurotic is more likely to be disappointed and insist that he is really ill.

Weakness and fatigue often disappear when the sufferer gets down to earth. Most of us feel better after banishing worries, controlling the tendency to fret and fuss, or obtaining a job which does not push us too far. Stamina may be improved by exercise and a general upbuilding of the body.

SALIVARY STONES

F. C. writes: I am subject to stone formation in the salivary glands. Can diet influence this condition in any way?

REPLY: I doubt it, as these calculi are more likely to form when the duct becomes inflamed or partially obstructed by masses of bacteria.

AGEING COLON

Mrs. W. writes: What can be done for gray hairs of the intestine? X-rays show them definitely.

REPLY: This is a new one on me as I have never heard this expression used. Hair does not grow in the intestine. Physicians have many pet expressions to describe various ailments. Consequently I would suggest that you ask the physician what he meant.

Held off commenting on Wallace's famous speech that led to his resignation until my Washington spies sent me the straight dope. Now I have it. It seems that Truman didn't really okay the speech, he just got it mixed up in his sheet music.

The speech left Truman aghast. . . . That's a White House term meaning, "That's what happens when you hire a man from Iowa."

Personally I was sorry to see it happen to Henry because years ago he showed me how to develop a new hybrid type of corn. . . . and in my business a new type of corn is always more than welcome.

San Quentin authorities are very interested in the famous Wallace letter that was lost. . . . They say it's the first time in history anyone ever got into trouble sneaking a file out of some place.

One thing the whole deal revealed was that the "S" in Harry S. Truman does really stand for something. Silent, you say. . . . Sound off, you Scram!

By DREW FEARSON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—A significant battle over the stock market has been taking place backstage between two-fisted Federal Reserve Board Chairman Marriner Eccles and Emil Schram, president of the New York Stock Exchange. The outcome concerns every investor in the country.

Schram and the big Wall Street brokers are demanding that the government again permit margin-buying. Eccles has been militantly opposed. Schram and friends say that if stocks can be purchased partly on credit, it will bolster the falling market.

Eccles on the other hand is dead opposed to speculation on credit during the present inflationary period. He is also reluctant to encourage the public to get in on a stock market which suffered its greatest monthly loss in history during September. In that month the value of securities dropped eight billion dollars, more than twice as much as during "Black October, 1929."

Eccles' advisers argue that the only thing which prevented the market drop from becoming a complete financial disaster was the no-margin rule, which meant that every legal trader in the stock market was buying for cash. Thus, when prices dropped, there was no rush to borrow money to cover the drop. As a result of this insistence on no margins, the effect on the country was cushioned.

Eccles, his friends say, is not going to budge on the no-margin rule now.

LaGuardia Sees Stalin When UNRRA Director LaGuardia and aides visited Moscow on their recent tour of Europe, his entire party was eager to see Stalin. The Kremlin invitation, however, only permitted LaGuardia and two other UNRRA officials to call on the top Soviet leader.

LaGuardia, therefore, suggested to his aide, Joseph Lilly, that he divert the rest of the party by taking them to Lenin's tomb, where the body of the Father of the Russian Revolution is still perfectly preserved.

Late that night, the party reassembled, and Lilly eagerly asked LaGuardia what he had learned from Stalin. Replied Piorelli: "I got as much out of Stalin as you did out of Lenin."

Mexican Meat Ban

So much friction has been kicked up by the U. S. embargo against Mexican cattle and hoof-and-mouth disease that President Truman has taken the unusual step of writing a personal letter to the President of Mexico about it. In his letter Truman backed up the Agriculture Department's embargo and denied that it was inspired by U. S. cattlemen who want to avoid Mexican competition.

Truman told the Mexican chief executive that he believed the ban was entirely justified as a precautionary measure against the threat of hoof-and-mouth disease, adding that it would be rescinded only when officials of the Department's Animal Quarantine Division were satisfied no danger exists.

Cause of all the trouble is some breeder bulls which Mexico imported from Brazil.

Real fact is that more than a year ago, when Mexican stock raisers were arranging to purchase the Brazilian bulls, the Agriculture Department warned Mexico that entry of the animals might bring

Truman Gags Self On Matters Of Foreign Issues

By MARK SULLIVAN

President Truman's press conference this week had two main characteristics. One was what Mr. Truman conspicuously emphasized; the other, what he conspicuously steered clear of.

The thing avoided was foreign relations. To practically every question in that field Mr. Truman's reply was a terse declaration of no comment, and he has learned to say these two words with firmness and finality.

A subject important and delicate in foreign relations had loomed high in the morning papers. Mr. Bernard M. Baruch, responsible for the official American plan in international matters having to do with the atomic bomb, had made a startling statement about Mr. Henry A. Wallace. He had said that Mr. Wallace, in his utterances on the subject and on our relations with Russia, had made five mistakes of fact; that Mr. Wallace had admitted the mistakes and had agreed to correct them, but had later withdrawn from his undertaking to make correction.

Silent On Baruch-Wallace

About this, many questions were in newsmen's minds, but only one was asked. It received from Mr. Truman a declaration of no comment, so prompt and terse that other questions on the Baruch-Wallace affair were forestalled. Similarly, about negotiations with the British on Jewish immigration into Palestine, there was no comment. There was none about the return of our ambassador to Russia from Paris to Moscow. There was none about the speech Secretary Byrnes had delivered in Paris a few hours before, except that Mr. Truman said he had conferred with Mr. Byrnes about the speech and was in accord with it.

Mr. Truman has learned, with the thoroughness that accompanies caution acquired by experience, that it is dangerous to make comments on foreign relations in the form of off-hand replies to unexpected questions at press conferences. This has now been so well proved that it ought to have the standing of a fixed rule of conduct for the Presidential office. It was learned even by President Roosevelt. He was deaf in answering questions and enjoyed answering them; but after some experiences early in his Administration his routine reply to questions about foreign relations was that the questioner should ask the State Department.

Sounding Board Of Optimism

The subject that President Truman emphasized at his press conference this week was reconversion, the progress made in it. This he gave at the beginning, without waiting for questions; quite apparently he was taking advantage of the press conference as a sounding board for optimism. He said he would like to call attention to some high-lights in a report just made by Reconversion Director John Steelman.

The high-lights included: 55 million persons at work, an all-time high. Only 2 million out of employment, and most of these merely in process of going from one job to another. Business profits at an all-time high. Farm income at an all-time high. National income at a point which, on an annual basis, would be 172 billion dollars a year, an all-time high. To these statements in the Steelman report, President Truman confidently added an expectation, that the budget will be balanced the present year.

These figures the newsmen listened to, and took home with them copies of the complete Steelman report. They know the facts to be correct, but knew also the scarierities they had themselves encountered—meat,

Republican Cooperation In World Peace Aims Praised By Mr. Byrnes

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—It was a simply worded speech which Secretary of State Byrnes delivered in Paris and it did not get entangled with the Wallace-Truman controversy, as some had surmised in advance. Yet the address was one of the best that has been made on American foreign policy since the days of Woodrow Wilson.

Mr. Byrnes answered isolationists with a clear statement that puts the issue on an altogether different ground than it has hitherto been debated.

"The people of the United States," he said, "have discovered that when a European war starts, our own peace and security inevitably become involved before the finish. They have concluded that if they must help finish every European war, it would be better for them to do their part to prevent the starting of a European war."

Essence of U. S. Policy Here in a single paragraph is the essence of American policy today. Here is the reason for preparedness and adequate defense and here, too, is the main reason for active participation by this country in the United Nations.

Many Americans find European problems remote, if not distasteful, but Mr. Byrnes remarked that this was less important than the dangers that follow. He added: "Twice in our generation doubt as to American foreign policy has led other nations to miscalculate the consequences of their actions. Twice in our generation that doubt as to American foreign policy has not brought peace, but war."

Here is the heart of the whole program which Mr. Byrnes has set before the world. Whether it is called a "get tough" policy—a phrase our governmental spokesmen have never used—or whether it is called a policy of firm adherence to American ideals and to the sanctity of written pledges, the fact is that the United States stands ready today to defend its policies. No such forthright indication of American foreign policy was given before World War I and none was given before World War II. As a consequence, whatever might have been done to save American lives and prevent war from involving us was not done by our government or by the influential segments of American public opinion which influenced government.

Bipartisan Unity Referred To Secretary Byrnes was very careful not to accuse the Republican Party of obstruction in the 20's—for there were isolationists in both parties—but he made reference to the

Stocks Pursue Downward Course; Dealings Are Slow From Start

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Stocks generally pursued a sluggish downward course in today's market. Dealings were slow from the start. Extreme losses for steel, motors, rubbers, mail orders, rails and chemicals ranging from fractions to two or more points were reduced in most instances. Transfers of 900,000 shares were the same as Thursday.

The stock exchange will resume two-hour Saturday sessions tomorrow after suspensions through June, July, August and September. American Woolen preferred jumped 5 1/2 to 144 1/2, and the common was up 2 1/2 to 45 1/2. Dow Chemical 2 1/2 to 185 1/2. Du Pont was off 4 1/2 to 180 1/2. Allied Chemical 2 1/2 to 158 1/2. Chickasha Cotton Oil 2 to 14 1/2. Douglas Aircraft 2 1/2 to 78. Goodyear 2 1/2 to 54 and Caterpillar Tractor 2 to 63.

On the offside were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, United States Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, American Can, Air Reduction, Sante Fe, General Electric, Pennsylvania Railroad, Great Northern, Norfolk and Western, Anaconda and Eastman Kodak.

Pantepec bulged in the Curb but casualties were Clayton and Lombard, Noma Electric, Texton and Middle West Corporation. Turnover here was 270,000 shares versus 280,000 yesterday.

The bond market, with rail issues in the lead, headed back toward the lowest levels in more than a year after a week of comparative stability.

Business dwindled to the slimmest total in five weeks at $3,610,000. This compared with $4,164,000 Thursday. United States governments inched forward in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan December 2 1/2 to 87-72 up 1-32 at 102 5-32 bid.

Hugh Dalton Named World Bank Chairman

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Governors of the world bank and fund closed their first annual meeting by electing Hugh Dalton, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, as chairman and choosing London as their next meeting place.

Halling Dalton's unanimous election by the financial leaders of 43 nations, retiring Chairman John W. Snyder predicted the bank and fund next year "would play an impressive role in solving the pressing economic problems that confront the world."

Earlier, the bank granted membership to the former enemy Italy, and to the wartime neutrals Turkey, Syria and Lebanon—the same nations accepted yesterday by the International Monetary Fund.

Answer Filed In Mt. Savage Coal Dispute

In an answer filed in Circuit Court Harry I. Stegmaier, counsel for the defendants in a suit over coal stripping near Mt. Savage, charges that the bill of complaint is incorrect and asks that the case be dismissed from court.

The complainants, represented by John M. Robb and Albert A. Doub, Jr., include David N. Goldberg, Angelo Franciose and Ralph Franciose, trading as the Dorothy Coal Company. The suit was filed against the James W. Ford, trading as the Ford

Coal Company, Ford, George E. Ford, a brother, John Bettina and Dominic Bettina, trading as Bettina-Ford Coal Company and Mt. Savage Refractories Company.

After the bill of complaint was filed, Chief Judge William A. Huster signed an injunction preventing the defendants from removing the coal from property located near Mt. Savage, and known as the Dickel Farm.

The 'Mt. Savage Refractories Company, owner of the land, entered into a contract with James Ford, who received the right to mine coal on a royalty basis, it was said. Ford then entered into a written agreement with the Dorothy Coal Company for strip mining on the property, they stated.

The plaintiffs said they were to deliver the coal into trucks of the Ford Coal Company and were to receive $2.08 per net ton. The agreement further stipulated, the plaintiffs contend, that Ford should furnish the equipment needed to haul the coal.

The Dorothy Coal Company charges that 8,000 tons of coal were mined at a cost of $18,000 and now Ford refuses to send trucks for the coal.

They charge that Ford, working in conjunction with the refractories company, intends to cancel the lease agreement, and that the refractories intends to sell the coal to another party.

In his answer, Stegmaier charges that the amount of coal ready for loading is 3,000 tons and not 8,000 as alleged in the bill of complaint. He further alleges that the plaintiff did considerable strip mining on the land, which was not agreed to in the contract and that 10,000 tons of coal per month was to be mined but such tonnage has not been loaded.

2 Game Wardens Named To Washington County

Two additional game wardens will be assigned to Washington County next month to aid in the campaign of the Inland Game and Fish Commission to stop violations of fish and game laws, according to Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden.

The wardens will assist the two full-time deputy game wardens already assigned to the county, James Smith at Hancock and David A. Gross at Sharpsburg.

Minke disclosed that more violators of the fish laws were arrested this year in Washington County than in any previous year. There were 56 prosecutions, with all except one being convicted and fined.

Go to Church Sunday - Your Church - Any Church - But Go

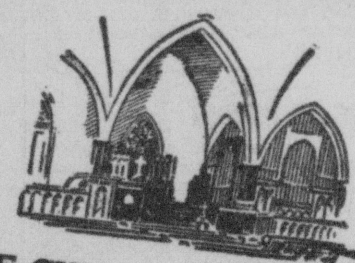

It's all part of a carefully thought out plan!

His parents want him to love music . . . to find in it the beauty and strength that others have discovered . . . to make it an enrichment of his life.

And this banging on the keys is the first step. Already he loves the sounds his tiny fingers can command.

Thoughtful parents! But there are richer blessings in life than music. There are spiritual chords that touch the depths of the human soul, and call forth the noblest that is in man. And these, too, must be discovered in childhood!

The simple religious truths that a youngster learns in Sunday School are the keys that turn life's discord into harmony. Wise parents begin with the Church in planning their children's lives—and their own lives also.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday.

Starts At 10 O'clock
Prices for the show, which begins at 10 a. m., are 20 cents for children under 12 and 40 cents for persons over that age. Employees at the Embassy have volunteered their services and the film was furnished without charge by a representative of PRC Pictures in Washington, D. C.

Watchdog Plan Enrages Russian
Earlier in the session, Arturien, enraged at a proposal to put a watchdog over Italian reparations, accused Britain and the United States of violating their four-power agreements.

Dimitri Manulsky, of the Ukraine, asked if America's staff in seeking to reduce the British figure for Yugoslavia by $20,800,000, was influenced by "incidents which have arisen between the United States and Yugoslavia."

Any final decision on Italian reparations should be made, Manulsky declared, in the spirit that prevailed at the time of Stalingrad, at the time the Americans landed in North Africa, when our alliance was at its full strength.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov left Paris for Moscow by plane to confer with Prime Minister Stalin. A Russian Embassy spokesman said he was expected to return by Monday, when the plenary session of the conference will meet to take final action on the peace treaties before the October 13 adjournment date.

United States Secretary of State, Byrnes conferred with British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, but the nature of their discussion was not disclosed.

Woman Leaves $600 To 2 Churches

Miss Annie L. Higgins, who died September 16, listed two Catholic churches as beneficiaries of $600 in her will which was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court. The churches are St. Patrick's, Cumberland, and a monastery in New Jersey.

In her will she left $500 to the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Baltimore, for the exclusive use of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and $100 to St. Anthony's Guild, Paterson, N. J.

She also left $100 to Rev. James A. Dwyer, former assistant pastor at St. Patrick's, and five shares of stock in the Potomac Edison Company to Dr. John K. Rozum, this city. To each of two brothers she bequeathed $50. They are Dennis P. and Patrick J. Higgins, both of Duquesne, Pa.

A niece and several nephews were each left $1. The remainder of the estate was bequeathed to Archbishop Curley for the use of St. Patrick's church.

The Second National Bank and Dr. Rozum were named executors of the estate.

Believed to be a record in the court, the will of a man who died 49 years ago was also admitted to probate. Joseph Whetstone, of Frostburg, who died May 20, 1897, named his son, Bradford Whetstone, as sole beneficiary and executor. The will was drawn April 3, 1896, and witnessed by Leonidas J. Parker and F. H. B. Prichard, both of whom have since died.

The son is also dead, and it was explained by Edward J. Ryan, attorney, that the will was filed now in order to clear title to some real estate owned by Whetstone.

The will of Mrs. Annie Pape, of Eckhart, who died August 19, left her estate to her sons, Wilson, Milton, Charles and Clifton Pape. Wilson Pape receives the home he now occupies.

Also probated was the will of Mrs. Mary C. Willard, of this city, who died August 25. Her furniture and money in the bank were left to her sons, James V. and Ralph K. Willard. The remainder of the estate is to be divided among the two sons and the other children, William Edward Willard, John Perry Willard, Mrs. Mary J. Athey, Mrs. Florence Brant, Mrs. Naomi Weaver, Mrs. Clara Wallace, Mrs. Bernice Welton.

A PRAYER

God—
Give me strength today
To do my common chores—
The drab and unexciting
Work which I must do
To fill my daily stint.
It is so easy, God,
To do dramatic things—
So easy to go out
On far adventuring,
Or hurl myself
To meet new challenges—
But it's so hard to keep
My restless spirit bound
Within the pattern
I was made to serve.
Give me the patience, God,
To do the simple things
That must be done
By someone on this earth;
And with that patience
Give me sense to know
That every task is lovely
If we'd have it so—
That every chore,
However humble it may be,
Is noble.
If it serves
Your plan of life,
O Father, help me
Still my restlessness—
For your dear Son,
They say,
Was restless too.

Mt. Savage Native Tells Of Mock Screen Test

An article in the October issue of Motion Picture magazine, written by Maxwell Hamilton, editor of the magazine and a Mt. Savage native, describes his experiences when he went through a mock screen test in Hollywood recently. Hamilton, now a resident of New York, where the magazine is published, is a son of William L. Hamilton, former superintendent of the old Union Mining Company in Mt. Savage, and the late Mrs. Cecilia Miller Hamilton, who died many years ago.

He moved to New York with his father and two sisters, Kathleen and Rose, after attending grammar school in Mt. Savage, and since that time he has paid infrequent visits to his birthplace.

He is a nephew of Mrs. Charles Winner, Mt. Savage, and of Mrs. John Farrell, this city. Hamilton refers to Mt. Savage in the article.

Authorities Deny Mistreating McCauley

Denying a charge made by Mark McCauley, held for the murder of two West Virginia police officers, and his attorney, that he was subjected to "the third degree" while an inmate of the Harrison County Jail at Clarksburg, W. Va., authorities said he "received the best possible treatment."

McCauley in a statement made Wednesday said he was mistreated while being held in Clarksburg. Both Deputy Sheriff Andy Casto and State Trooper G. F. Randall denied the charges, but said he was chained to his cell as a protective measure.

Trooper G. F. Randall of the State Police detachment, said McCauley, who recently was returned to Mineral County Jail, Keyser, made his confession of shooting Sheriff O. G. Hovatter and State Trooper Joseph P. Horne and wounding the sheriff's son, voluntarily. "He talked very freely and constantly," Randall said.

Two Permits Granted

Walter L. Weires, operator of an auto repair garage at 333 Baltimore avenue, secured a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to construct a two-story concrete block building at 331-337 Baltimore avenue for storage and an addition to his present garage. Work to be done by the owner, will cost $500. The building will measure 12 by 20 feet, with a concrete foundation and slate surface shingle roof.

Mathew Hemmils, 223 Grand avenue, secured an occupancy permit to use the first floor of a three-story brick building at 30 South Front street (Queen City Pavement) for bicycle sales and service. The building, vacant for three years, is owned by S. C. Deane, 28 South Front street.

Other winners from this area include Kenneth Ship, Oldtown, third in the potato judging contest; Joe Yommer, Grantsville, first in dairy cattle judging; and Grantsville High school first in group competition in dairy cattle judging.

Allegany High placed third in the potato judging.

The teamsters union is demanding a contract to cover some 15 drivers employed by the company on a trucking line it operates north and south of the Annapolis plant. C. E. Stutzman, union business manager said.

The drivers, called out Labor Day by a strike of the union here, were later ordered back to work pending a NLRB decision.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

OLD JUDGE: "Treating an alcoholic, Paul, takes patience just like in fishing. What people have got to learn is that the alcoholic is a sick person, and that it takes patience and skill to correct the underlying causes of the disease."

ROGER: "Where I come from, Judge, all they ever do with alcoholics is throw them in jail, and keep them there 'til they sober up."

OLD JUDGE: "It's too bad, but that's what they do in a lot of places. And it's just a waste of the taxpayers' money. Medical and social scientists have been studying alcoholism very thoroughly the past few years, and they know now that most problem drinkers are suffering from some deep-rooted mental or physical condition that makes them incapable of dealing with life without some sort of crutch to lean on."

PAUL: "If it wasn't alcohol, I suppose it might be something worse, eh Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Exactly. But in more and more enlightened communities today they're providing special clinics for the study and treatment of alcoholics. So we're beginning to make some real scientific progress."

ROGER: "I'm glad to know about that, Judge. Sounds to me like the only intelligent way to tackle this problem."

Watchdog Plan Enrages Russian
Earlier in the session, American, enraged at a proposal to put a watchdog over Italian reparations, accused Britain and the United States of violating their four-power agreements.

Dimitri Manulsky, of the Ukraine, asked if America's stand, in seeking to reduce the British figure for Yugoslavia by $20,000,000, was influenced by "incidents which have arisen between the United States and Yugoslavia."

Any final decision on Italian reparations should be made, Manulsky declared, "in the spirit that prevailed at the time of Stalingrad, at the time the Americans landed in North Africa, when our alliance was at its full strength."

Woman Leaves $600 To 2 Churches

Miss Annie L. Higgins, who died September 16, listed two Catholic churches as beneficiaries of $600 in her will which was admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans Court. The churches are St. Patrick's, Cumberland, and a monastery in New Jersey.

In her will she left $500 to the Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, Baltimore, for the exclusive use of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and $100 to St. Anthony's Guild, Paterson, N. J.

She also left $100 to Rev. James A. Dwyer, former assistant pastor at St. Patrick's, and five shares of stock in the Potomac Edison Company to Dr. John K. Rozum, this city. To each of two brothers she bequeathed $50. They are Dennis J. and Patrick J. Higgins, both of Duquesne, Pa.

A niece and several nephews were each left $1. The remainder of the estate was bequeathed to Archbishop Curley for the use of St. Patrick's church.

The Second National Bank and Dr. Rozum were named executors of the estate.

Believed to be a record in the court, the will of a man who died 46 years ago was also admitted to probate. Joseph Whetstone, of Frostburg, who died May 20, 1897, named his son, Bradford Whetstone, as sole beneficiary and executor. The will was drawn April 3, 1896, and witnessed by Leonidas J. Parker and Enoch H. B. Prichard, both of whom have since died.

The son is also dead, and it was explained by Edward J. Ryan, attorney, that the will was filed now in order to clear title to some real estate owned by Whetstone.

The will of Mrs. Annie Pape, of Eckhart, who died August 19, left her estate to her sons, Wilson, Milton, Charles and Clifton Pape. Wilson Pape receives the home he now occupies.

Also probated was the will of Mrs. Mary C. Willard, of this city, who died August 25. Her furniture and money in the bank was left to her sons, James V. and Ralph K. Willard. The remainder of the estate is to be divided among the two sons and the other children. William Edward Willard, John Perry Willard, Mrs. Mary J. A PRAYER

God—
Give me strength today
To do my common chores—
The drab and unexciting
Work which I must do
To fill my daily stint.
It is so easy, God,
To do dramatic things—
So easy to go out
On far adventuring,
Or hurt myself
To meet new challenges—
But it's so hard to keep
My restless spirit bound
Within the pattern
I was made to serve.
Give me the patience, God,
To do the simple things
That must be done
By someone on this earth;
And with that patience
Give me sense to know
That every task is lovely
If we'd have it so—
That every chore,
However humble it may be
Is noble
If it serves
Your plan of life.
O Father, help me
Still my restlessness—
For your dear Son,
They say.
Was restless too.

Mt. Savage Native Tells Of Mock Screen Test

An article in the October issue of Motion Picture magazine, written by Maxwell Hamilton, editor of the magazine and a Mt. Savage native, describes his experiences when he went through a mock screen test in Hollywood recently. Hamilton, now a resident of New York, where the magazine is published, is a son of William L. Hamilton, former superintendent of the old Union Mining Company in Mt. Savage, and the late Mrs. Cecilia Miller Hamilton, who died many years ago.

He moved to New York with his father and two sisters, Kathleen and Rose, after attending grammar school in Mt. Savage, and since that time he has paid infrequent visits to his birthplace.

He is a nephew of Mrs. Charles Winner, Mt. Savage, and of Mrs. John Farrell, this city. Hamilton refers to Mt. Savage in the article.

Authorities Deny Mistreating McCauley

Denying a charge made by Mark McCauley, held for the murder of two West Virginia police officers, and his attorney, that he was subjected to "the third degree" while an inmate of the Harrison County Jail at Clarksburg, W. Va., authorities said he "received the best possible treatment."

McCauley in a statement made Wednesday, said he was mistreated while being held in Clarksburg. Both Deputy Sheriff Andy Casto and State Trooper G. F. Randall denied the charges, but said he was chained to his cell as a protective measure.

Trooper G. F. Randall of the State Police detachment, said McCauley, who recently was returned to Mineral County Jail, Keyser, made his confession of shooting Sheriff O. G. Hovatter and State Trooper Joseph P. Horne and wounding the sheriff's son, voluntarily. "He talked very freely and constantly," Randall said.

Work, to be done by the owner, will cost $500. The building will measure 12 by 20 feet, with a concrete foundation and slate surface shingle roof.

Mathew Hemmils, 223 Grand avenue, secured an occupancy permit to use the first floor of a three-story brick building at 30 South Front street (Queen City Pavement) for bicycle sales and service. The building, vacant for three years, is owned by S. C. Deane, 28 South Front street.

Other winners from this area include Kenneth Ship, Oldtown, third in the potato judging contest; Joe Yonmmer, Grantsville, first in dairy cattle judging, and Grantsville High school first in group competition in dairy cattle judging.

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels outplayed LaSalle in every period last night to chalk up their second intra-city victory of the season in the Fort Hill stadium before a gathering of approximately 5,000 persons. The score was 14 to 0.

The Sentinels scored their touchdowns in the first and final periods, rolled up a total of 313 yards on rushing plays and registered 14 first downs in the third quarter. LaSalle was on the defensive a greater part of the game and the farthest advance into Fort Hill territory came late in the final period when Coach Long's eleven reached the 39-yard stripe, following 20 and 17 yard passes, Tommy Cloonan to Joe Reids and a six-yard end run by the LaSalle quarterback.

Step Sentinels Five Times

The Explorers played good defensive ball, and as a result took the ball on downs from Hammen on no less than five occasions stopping the Hilltoppers on the 18 in the first period, the 10-yard line twice in the second stanza and the 25-yard stripe in the third quarter. The fifth time that the Explorers halted their city rivals was in the fourth period when they took over on downs on their own 28.

Fort Hill marked up its first touchdown about midway in the opening quarter. The march started when Tracy Ragins punted to the Fort Hill 25 and Jimmie Manges made an 18-yard runback to his own 43. The Sentinels scored in seven plays later after a 57-yard drive featured by 29 and 12 yard runs by Ray Stevenson. Manges carried the ball over the final stripe from the 43 and Elmer Freeland booted the extra point.

Score In Six Plays

The Sentinels first score came shortly after the fourth quarter got under way. Cloonan punted to Manges on the LaSalle 40 and Jimmie returned the ball to the Explorers' 25. Six plays later the touchdown with Ray Stevenson going over from the one. Again, Freeland kicked the extra point. In the 13-yard drive goalward, Don Sensabaugh gained 14 yards in two plays, Stevenson picked up seven in three tries and Manges racked up four yards in one attempt.

Stevenson's 29-yard sprint in the first period was the longest run of the game although Sensabaugh made one good for 25 and Harry Lewis, substitute back, made two nice gains of 17 and 15 yards late in the contest and Manges raced 19 yards on one occasion. The lineup:

The Bison scored in the first period when Jack Faust skirted end for 34 yards to climax a 70-yard drive. Marshall went off tackle for four yards and the second score and Williams' pass to Beagle for the opening game. They can say too much about beating either Hughson or Mickey Harris, the Sox south paw, but they are confident they can take some of the polish off Dave (Boo) Ferris, the club's crack sophomore.

The first half whistle halted Bedford on the invaders' nine-yard line and the Bisons were on the Roaring Springs' 16 when the game ended.

In scoring their fourth win in five starts, the Buffaloes racked up 274 yards rushing and passing against the losers' 139. The winners were credited with 22 first downs while Roaring Springs got six. Lineups:

Bedford Defeats Roaring Springs

Bedford, Pa., Oct. 4—Bedford High School roared back into the win column tonight by defeating Roaring Springs High School by the score of 19 to 12.

The Bison scored in the first period when Jack Faust skirted end for 34 yards to climax a 70-yard drive. Marshall went off tackle for four yards and the second score and Williams' pass to Beagle for the opening game. They can say too much about beating either Hughson or Mickey Harris, the Sox south paw, but they are confident they can take some of the polish off Dave (Boo) Ferris, the club's crack sophomore.

The first half whistle halted Bedford on the invaders' nine-yard line and the Bisons were on the Roaring Springs' 16 when the game ended.

In scoring their fourth win in five starts, the Buffaloes racked up 274 yards rushing and passing against the losers' 139. The winners were credited with 22 first downs while Roaring Springs got six. Lineups:

Cairnbrook turned back the Vets 4-1 here last Sunday and "Smoky Joe" Schmalko, the winning pitcher, was scheduled to try to duplicate the feat. Paul Clapper is slated to work on the mound for Hyndman with Ray Cook behind the bat.

Ripe for the Alibi

This 1946 series will be ripe for the alibi, no matter which league wins.

In case the A. L. finishes in front, National League supporters will tell you what the long and extended stretch run did to their pennant winner. These supporters will peak in loud terms, not only about the dead heat pennant race, but also about the set of extra games needed to supply the final answer.

If anything of a sour nature happens to the Boston Red Sox, you'll get the old alibi of the long vacation from hot competition. They won't count the warm-up series arranged with the All-stars, a smart idea that, however, missed fire in the way of attendance, public interest and the matter of Ted Williams' elbow.

National League followers, with husky throats and with tears in their eyes, will tell you about the long rest the Red Sox had, against a club won't to a frazzle by long weeks of neck-and-neck racing, a club that barely stumbled home in front, close to exhaustion. The National League side will lay on the sob stuff several fathoms deep.

Against this, the American Leaguers, in case of trouble, will explain that the N. L. pennant winner was geared up to fighting pitch, keyed to the work of working under full steam with its impetuous suit under way.

Each side will at least make their argument sound reasonably true. Neither side can prove its case, but that will make little difference to the vocal artists of the two leagues, who, as a rule, have their brains practicing quick starts well in advance of the occasion where they may be required.

The Matter of Condition

The hard game Howie Poliet had on Tuesday won't help a sore back muscle, even with a five day's rest.

Brecheen and Dickson have both been worked a trifle overtime through necessity. Eddie Dyer hasn't had any pitcher noted for his stamina.

The Red Sox were not tearing down many fences, or wrecking many ball parks, the last few weeks of the race.

Their keen edge dulled a trifle shortly after Labor Day, when their general percentage figures dropped.

Ted Williams could never hit his earlier stride, either via the base hit or the home-run route.

A good point was made in suggesting that Ted was letting too many near strikes—balls an inch or so away from the plate—slide by through his unerring judgment of balls and strikes.

This could be true since it is difficult to get your swing moving in the split fraction of a second needed in following a pitch that far.

Ted is a great swinger, but even the greatest need a little more time to get the bat under way with full power back of the motion.

A pitch two inches off the plate is just as easy to hit as one over the corner.

Williams has dropped a bundle of prestige since his great outbreak in the recent All-Star game.

He could regain much of this by starting in the world series.

DON PADGETT RIDES TRIPLE AT LAUREL

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 4 (AP)—Gay Legend, belonging to Henry Hecht, of Baltimore, won the one mile and a sixteenth Maryland Purse, sixth and feature race at Laurel Park today, but it was little Jockey Don Padgett who really stole the show.

The 18-year-old Walterboro, S.C., Booter accepted five mounts and won with three of them, all favorites. Padgett's winners were She's Back, $6.40, first race; Goldie's Back, $4.50, second race; and Glen Heather, $3.30, fourth race. She's Back and Goldie's Back were the winning daily double combination and the payoff was $14.70.

MONTREAL WINS

MONTREAL, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Montreal Royals defeated Louisville 2-0 in the sixth game of the Junior World Series to win the Junior title, four games to two.

Moorefield Opens Defense Of Title With 31-0 Victory

Jackets Trim Petersburg In Valley Conference Lid-Lifter

Moorefield, W. Va., Oct. 4—The Moorefield High Yellow Jackets launched their defense of the Potomac Valley Conference championship here this afternoon by blasting out a 31-0 victory over the Petersburg High Vikings.

Scoring in every quarter, the Jackets racked up their second triumph this season against one setback and a tie.

George Hoyt, Moorefield fullback, tallied three of his team's five touchdowns. He ran 20 yards for a six-point run in the opening quarter, raked up another in the third and then swept around end for the final 20 yards to paydirt in the closing stanza.

D. Kessel made a touchdown and kicked the extra point in the second quarter while the final tally was scored by End Welton on a pass from Hoyt. The toss traveled 32 yards and Welton ran the final six yards.

The Vikings failed to make a serious scoring threat. Their top ground-gainer was Halfback Berg, who reeled off several long gains.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Arch Longstream, who departed this life four years ago today, October 4, 1942.

At twilight when twilight hours draw near,
And sunset flames the sky,
We think of you, dear Mother,
And the happy days gone by,
Thoughts of you come drifting back
Within our dreams to stay.
To know that you are resting
When twilight ends the day,
Mother, you were with us when we needed
A friend.
On her we always could depend,
She cheered us in sickness and soothed
Our pain,
God grant some day we meet again.

Bodily missed by her loving husband and children.

27 Per Cent Increase Noted In Food Prices

Textile Union Conducts
Survey In City On 18
Commonly Used Items;
Reports $1.59 1-2 Rise

A survey by the Price Committee of the Textile Union of America, CIO, reveals a 27 per cent increase in the past four months on a list of 18 commonly used foods purchased in Cumberland stores. William Boyd Coleman, president announced yesterday.

The study, prepared by a committee composed of Louis Hartman, chairman, and Robert Baker, Arthur Green and Richard Boyden, also included a study of eight meat cuts and meat products and coal, noting a 34 per cent increase from June 1 to September 1 in the price of meat and a sizable increase in the price of coal.

The committee reported that pound or can quantities of the 18 foods, which included chicken, fish, eggs, butter, oleomargarine, cheese, fresh and canned milk, peas, corn, tomatoes, potatoes, green and baked beans, coffee, flour, bread and meat soup, which cost $6.12½ in June had increased to $7.63 on October 1, and that the additional $1.50½ amounted to a 27 per cent increase.

Two of the items, eggs and potatoes, the group pointed out, are seasonal. The price of eggs, which jumped from 48 cents to 71 cents in the four months, will continue to increase in the next month or so due to seasonal scarcity.

Potatoes, the only item on the list which decreased, were listed at 61 cents a peck four months ago and are now quoted at 54 cents. Since the potato season is now at its peak, prices are bound to increase, the TWUA group said.

The committee also noted that the foods used for the survey were not considered the "best available" but the best workers in this area can afford.

The meat survey, which covers a three-month period from June 1, indicated that meats had jumped 24 per cent in that period. A pound each of pork roast, sausage, bacon, ham, beef round, steak, hamburger, and lamb chops, which cost $3.09 here four months ago, had increased to $4.14 by September 1. The $1.05 increase amounts to a 34 per cent boost, the committee said.

The coal survey, the last item studied by the group, indicates that domestic coal from four local dealers averaged $5.50 a ton yesterday and $7.50 today.

"The OPA," the group said, "quoted the price of coal before V-J day as $5.50 for domestic and $6.10 for stoker coal. We were informed by the OPA," the committee said, "that retail coal dealers were granted an increase of 57 cents a ton on one line and then an additional 10 cents which should make the selling price of domestic coal $6.37 and stoker coal $6.77."

The group said the meat survey has been the basis of the union's wage policy. It was the committee's reported price control very "ineffective" since few important items are still controlled.

He pointed out that much of labor is still affected by the policies of the Wage Stabilization Board and that the CIO needs the facts to impress upon the board the inadequacy of the 1945 cost formula established after V-J day.

Six-Inch Gas Line On Valley Street Will Be Renewed

Work will start Monday on renewing approximately 700 feet of the six-inch gas line on a section of the six-inch high pressure gas line extending from North Mechanic street up Valley street to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, according to F. S. Goss, foreman of the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company.

Goss secured a permit yesterday from the city engineer's office for the work, which is estimated to take a week to 10 days. The cost has not been estimated.

The foreman explained that renewal of the pipe line will not affect gas service as far as residents of the Valley street section are concerned because that section is concerned by a low pressure line. When the new section is connected with the present line, however, gas service to two bakeries, the Community Baking Company and the Schmidt Baking Company, will be halted temporarily, he said.

Goss conferred yesterday with Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyerman and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, regarding the work. He said the company plans to block off half of the North Mechanic street intersection with Valley street when work is done on the section of Valley street between North Mechanic and North Centre, and half the intersection of North Centre and Valley when the work progresses to that point. One-way traffic will be in effect at the intersections.

The six-inch line, which was laid in 1907, extends up Chase street from Green to Cumberland street, across the Valley street bridge, and up Valley street to the regulator station on Railroad alley. The bridge section was replaced with four-inch pipe following an explosion at the bridge in February, 1945.

Although the remainder of the line is in good condition, the section beneath Valley street has been corroded by soil conditions and must be replaced, Goss said. A crew of 30 gas company employees will do the work.

The Potomac Edison Company, notified yesterday of the proposed work, said that a PE school bus serving Allegany High School will be rerouted, and that only a few PE buses use Valley street when leaving the out barn on North Centre street. They will be rerouted while the work is being done.

Garage Protests Picketing, Says Move Is Unfair

Stutzman Says Union Activities May Be Extended Soon

A strike called yesterday by the garage unit of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, resulted in vigorous protests of unfair picketing and discrimination by one of the two firms picketed yesterday by members of the union.

Some 66 members of the union stopped work yesterday demanding wage increases and the union secured permission from the Police Department to picket seven local garages. C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the union, said, however, that it was necessary to picket only two establishments since the other five did not attempt to operate.

Boyd Harper, proprietor of Boyd's Auto and Truck Service, Winnow street, reported that pickets paced in front of his shop all day in spite of the fact that all employees reported for work and the shop has no quarrel with the union.

He explained last night that not a single employee of the shop is a member of the teamsters union and that all of his men are satisfied.

Charging that his place is being discriminated against, Harper pointed out that the picketing might be justified only if the union would picket every garage, gas station and accessory store in this city.

The garage operator also charged that picketing at his place yesterday was illegal since from 12 to 15 garage workers were following the man who paced in front of his shop. If a car came up, Harper said, "the gang would descend like a swarm of bees."

Dempsey Goldsmith, of Goldsmith-Black, Inc., wholesale tobacco firm which is one door below the Harper garage, told the News that the pickets were interfering with his business by pacing in front of the firm and added his company is definitely not on strike.

Continued Operations
A spokesman for Spoerl's Garage said all of his employees reported to work but that two men failed to return after the lunch hour explaining they would not cross the picket line. The union listed two Spoerl employees among its 66 garage employees, it was reported.

Spoerl's reported about a dozen men who were looking on the railing near the garage left after Oscar A. Eyerman, chief of police, visited the area.

Stutzman declined to comment yesterday on the union representation at the two garages but said the union will continue to picket the place and that the picketing activities may extend to other garages.

The union official said the garages yesterday refused to accept the aid of the Conciliation Service and refused to allow Commissioner Conlon, who was in town yesterday, to intercede.

Concert Series Ticket Sale Ends This Afternoon

The sale of 1946-47 season tickets for the series to be presented by the Cumberland Concert Association ends today, with headquarters at 16 South Liberty street open until 5:30 p. m.

Among the features of the program this season will be the appearance on February 11, of the great violinist Joseph Szigeti, at Fort Hill High School auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

About 20 years ago, Fritz Kreisler told Americans that the most talented violinist in Europe was Joseph Szigeti, Americans acclaimed him when he made his debut in this country with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski.

Born in Budapest, he began his violin study under his father, then was influenced by the guidance of the noted Hungarian violinist and teacher Jeno Hubay. When he was 12, he played Beethoven's Violin Concerto before the great Joachim, who was enthralled. Serge Rachmaninoff said of Szigeti: "He is the greatest interpreter of my D Major Concerto."

Opening the local season on December 2, will be Muriel Kerr, pianist. The third offering will be the famous National Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Hans Klinger.

Fratz Entry Wins FFA-4-H Hog Contest

A hog entered by Donald Fratz, a student, was judged the winner of the annual Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club Fall Hog Contest held in Accident.

Fratz's hog was selected from 90 entries by Ural Bee, livestock specialist at the University of Maryland, and received the blue ribbon for grand champion of Garrett County.

It sold for 37 cents a pound and netted Fratz $38.25.

Reserve champion ribbons were presented to Wade Friend, Friendsville, for his entry in the contest. It brought 31 cents a pound or $85.05.

A. And P. Stores Sued For $2,500 By Martha Weller

Plaintiff Claims She Was
Permanently Injured
At Super Market

A suit for $2,500 was filed yesterday in Circuit Court against the A. and P. Stores, Inc., and Pacific Tea Company by Martha A. Weller, who charges that she was permanently injured when an employee struck her with a handcart being used at the Super Market, Winnow street.

In the bill of complaint filed by Estel C. Kelley, the plaintiff charges that she was shopping in the Winnow street Market, August 3, this year, and after making several purchases was preparing to leave by a side entrance to the parking lot when she was knocked down by the handcart operated by one of the clerks.

Her counsel said she was permanently injured because the company through its employees failed to exercise due care in operating the handcart and that she suffered severe and excruciating pain after falling on the concrete floor.

In a suit filed by titling Martha A. Shugrue seeks settlement for injuries allegedly suffered when she was struck by a car operated by James A. Glover. Her counsel, P. Brooke Whiting, said the accident occurred several months ago on Greene street and his client was badly injured. The amount of damages was not disclosed.

Two suits by titling were filed against William H. Kight as an individual and the Kight Funeral Home, by Louise H. Carvey and Clara D. Ford. Their attorney, Clarence Lippel, said the two women were injured when a car owned by Kight ran down a hill and pinned them to the corner of Davidson and Decatur streets.

Cab Company Sued
Suit by titling was filed by Mrs. Jessie B. Kennedy, Cumberland, against the Astor Cab Company, as a result of accident on a North End street. Her attorney, Robert MacDonald Bruce indicated $3,000 damages would be asked.

Mrs. Lillian P. Boston filed suit against the Progressive Quaker City Life Insurance Company for $500.

Mrs. Boston contends the firm refuses to pay on a policy taken out by the late John E. Boston in December, 1945. She alleges that a 30 cent premium was paid up at the time of death.

Asking $1,500 damages, Richard E. Huff, by his father and next friend, Richard L. Huff, has filed suit against Orval W. Jenkins, C. William Gilchrist, attorney for the plaintiff, said the boy was walking along Valley road last May 31, when he was struck by a car operated by Jenkins.

Mrs. Hovatter Wins Sheriff Nomination

By HELEN COLLETT
PARSONS, W. Va., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Grace Hovatter, widow of Tucker County Sheriff O. Gay Hovatter, who was shot to death September 3 near Emoryville, was nominated unanimously tonight for sheriff by a Democratic mass meeting in the Parsons Court House.

Mrs. Hovatter, who attended the meeting, accepted the nomination. County Sheriff O. Gay Hovatter, special officer of the Davis Coal and Coke Company, received the Republican nomination for sheriff at a similar meeting.

On September 16 Mrs. Hovatter accepted the position of deputy sheriff to succeed A. Smith Hockman, appointed by the Tucker County Court to fill Sheriff Hovatter's place. Hockman had served as deputy sheriff for 10 years.

Croston ran for sheriff against Sheriff Hovatter two years ago and was defeated by a slim margin.

At tonight's meeting, a resolution was read expressing sympathy and condolence for Mrs. Hovatter and her four children in the loss of their husband and father.

Attorney General Curran Hints It Might Be Well If GOP Wins

Baltimore Democratic Leader's Failure To Support
Own Ticket Amazes Party Leaders; Glosses Over
Lane And Ignores O'Connor's Candidacy

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4.—Attorney General William Curran failed to give his support to Democratic candidates in Maryland's campaign, at a party rally here several nights ago, and once more, the head of the state's legal department has become the biggest political mark of the drive for votes.

A writer in the Baltimore Sun says: "There was unbecoming amazement in the Democratic campaign headquarters yesterday at Mr. Curran's latest performance, a speech in which he had been expected to recommend the party ticket in the impending election but which turned out, instead, to be a withering denunciation of the Democratic party's leadership, lacking even a single mention of most of the party's candidates."

"Among all the candidates the Democrats are offering for consideration November 5, Mr. Curran referred individually to only two, and then in terms less than flowery."

Fails To Name Lane
"Without using the name of William Preston Lane, the nominee for Governor, he said that he was glad to see the straightforward pronouncement of our candidate for Governor that he wants no part of the Communists, but instantly added that opposition to the Communists alone was not enough."

"The other candidate referred to was Hubert P. (Tex) Barton, a nominee for the State Senate, and that reference was to remind Mr. Barton when the time for patronage distribution comes that the Democratic organization supported him in a primary contest in the Second Legislative District."

"The speech was made Wednesday night at the Eleventh Ward Democratic Club, 847 Hamilton terrace, and its disturbing effect on the leaders of the State political campaign was apparent from the moment that meeting ended."

New Forces Mentioned
"In the course of the speech, Mr. Curran suggested that the Democratic party is better off accepting defeat while adhering to its Roosevelt line than in winning in alliance with new forces which the Attorney General described variously as subversive, undemocratic and un-American."

"He left his listeners wondering whether he thought defeat for the Democratic candidates might be a good thing now."

"At the outset of his talk, Mr. Curran said, as he had on an earlier occasion, that there was no justification for believing that the defeat sustained by his organization in the primary would lead it to desert the successful candidates."

Discusses The Party
"That disposed of, however, he began a discussion of the Democratic party and said it has 'swung away in very great measure from the things which make me proud of my Democracy.' Later, deploring the alliance made since 1933, he said, 'The time has come for us to realize where we are.'"

"After this, his audience apparently expected him to propose the present Democratic candidates as the kind who could be relied upon to keep the party in its traditional path. Nothing of the kind happened."

Mr. Curran read from a message on the Communist menace sent to the American Legion national convention by J. Edgar Hoover (whom he continued to call 'Herbert Hoover') until corrected from the audience and sat down without further reference to the party ticket.

Attitude At Headquarters
"The attitude at the party headquarters in the Emerson Hotel ranged from outright resentment to attempts to rationalize with suggestions that Mr. Curran became too intent upon his major theme and overlooked his lack of mention of the candidates."

"A headquarters worker reported that Robert B. Ennis, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, and campaign manager, when asked what he thought was the meaning of the Curran performance, merely shrugged his shoulders and lifted his eyebrows."

"The candidates themselves were silent."

Accused Of Speeding
Joseph Donald Smith, of Route 1, this city, forfeited $6.45 collateral yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court for speeding on Route 40 at LaVale on Wednesday. Trooper William P. Baker made the arrest.

Celanese Efforts In Rehabilitation Work Are Cited

Military Order Of Purple
Heart Pays Tribute To
Plant's Program

"We would be strange people indeed, if we did not more than appreciate the signal honor of receiving this citation," Fred T. Small, plant manager and vice president of the Celanese Corporation of America, told his audience last night at the All Ghan Shrine Club as he received a tribute from the Military Order of Purple Heart, in acknowledgement of the rehabilitation of veterans, especially handicapped veterans, at the local plant.

The presentation, made by George Leib, national executive committee member and past commander of Mountain Chapter No. 166, Purple Heart, is one of two made in this country by the National Military Order of Purple Heart. The Ford Motor Company of Detroit, Mich., received a similar citation, Leib said.

Explaining the procedure of authorizing such awards, Leib, who served as toastmaster, stated reports of the Celanese program for veterans and its culmination of this program had been sent to the national executive body, and when the reports came before the executive board and convention for action, there was not a single dissenting vote on the motion to award the Celanese the citation.

Small outlined the Celanese program for veterans, explaining that regardless of the GI Bill of Rights, the Celanese, realizing that industry failed returning veterans after World War I, determined to evolve a program that would take care of returning GIs after World War II.

During the years of the war, no local draft board was embarrassed by the Celanese in an effort to obtain deferments for great numbers of men, the speaker declared. A total of 5,063 persons to date have left the company's employ for the armed forces. Of these, 3,745 have returned. A total of 210 made the supreme sacrifice, and of this number, Small said, 138 were killed in action.

"At present," he continued, "there are 97 veterans not employed but on furlough. This has resulted from the fact that veteran succeeded veteran on the same job. In all these cases we have offered them other temporary employment, but as the job is considered unacceptable, they desire to remain on furlough until a more suitable job is available."

Small said 194 veterans, receiving government assistance, have been certified for on-the-job training, and leaves of absence have been granted 137 veterans desiring full-time attendance in accredited schools as provided under the Veterans' Assistance program.

As a man left for armed duty his job was filled if possible by his wife or an immediate dependent. Small stated. This was the first step in the plant's policy of doing something for the veteran. When he returned his job was waiting for him.

Small declared the company has followed a rigid plan of treating each returned veteran, handicapped or well, as an individual. There has been no assembly line or group methods used in dealing with the veterans, he explained. And the veteran, in no matter what large or small part he plays in production, has returned as a good worker.

"The supervisors, foreman and department heads have given repeated voice to the good work all these returned men are doing."

Small told his audience that the plant's policy toward veterans is as long as the need exists, and is making improvements in the program as time goes on.

Officers Installed
As a part of the annual banquet and program of the order officers of both Chapter 166 and the Auxiliary were installed. Charles Gore, Baltimore, department senior vice commander installed the new officers of the chapter. They include John W. Pownall, commander; Abe Lounsky, senior vice commander; (Continued on Page 8, Col. 3)

Rep. O'Brien Is Injured In Crash

Rep. George O'Brien, 46, Elbmire, Washington, D. C., was admitted to a hospital last night for treatment of undetermined back injuries suffered, attaches were told, when the car he was driving overturned near Hancock. He is listed in the world almanac as a Democratic representative from Detroit, Mich.

Attaches said the Congressman complained of severe pain in the back and suffered a cut on the leg. He was also suffering from shock when admitted. X-rays were taken last night to determine the extent of injuries.

He told attaches a passing motorist took him from the scene of the accident across the Pennsylvania State line to Hancock and was then brought here by a Bat ambulance.

Memorial Hospital authorities would not divulge O'Brien's condition last night.

The Bat Funeral Home said the car Rep. O'Brien was driving went into a ditch near Warfordsburg, several miles from Hancock, and that the legislator was brought there about 8:15 p. m.

Judith Sherman, 15-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bidwell Sierman, Patterson's Creek, W. Va., was treated in Memorial Hospital last night for a laceration on the forehead.

Miss Nellie Jones, 21, 322 Pace street, was treated in the same hospital at 10:30 p. m. for a possible shoulder injury suffered, attaches were told, as she was skating at Crystal Park. X-rays will be taken today to determine the extent of injuries.

Strip Mining Suit Settled Out Of Court

Morans, Morehouses
Reach Agreement After
Recess Is Granted

An out of court settlement was reached yesterday afternoon by David W. and Dakin C. Morehouse and Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Moran after a recess was granted yesterday morning on the second day of hearing involving charges that the Morehouse Brothers were deprived of money by the Morans when a contract to strip mine in Westernport was violated."

Edward J. Ryan, counsel for the Morans, said the settlement was "satisfactory to both parties," but refused to divulge the terms of the agreement. He said, however, that the Morehouses would cease operations on the properties owned by the Morans and would remove all equipment.

Injunction Rescinded
An order was also signed by Chief Judge William A. Huster rescinding a restraining order for the Morans to remove any coal now on the properties.

The hearing began Thursday morning after the two brothers filed suit against the Morans charging that they had suffered severe losses because of alleged violations of a contract permitting them to strip mine on the Michaels and Fenmar farms, near Westernport, both owned by Mr. and Mrs. Moran.

During Thursday's testimony David W. Morehouse, the only witness of the 24 sworn in to be called to the stand, outlined the expenses that he and his brother incurred in purchasing new equipment and constructing roads to enable them to mine the coal.

Asked For Recess
The hearing was less than an hour old yesterday when opposing counsel requested Judge Huster and Associate Judge Walter C. Capper for a recess to discuss a possible settlement out of court.

The Morehouse Brothers claimed they had a contract to strip mine coal on the two properties and that several thousand tons were left when the Morans declared the contract null and refused to permit further loading. In retaliation, the Morehouse Brothers secured a restraining order forbidding the Morans to move the coal which was estimated at 20,000 tons and valued at $28,000.

Regional Director Praises Moose Lodge For Work

For the outstanding part members of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose have taken in the humanitarian program of the order, Robert Irvin, regional director of the east coast area, brought congratulations and greetings of the supreme lodge to the local organization Thursday night.

Irvin, addressing a filled lodge hall, told his listeners that the Cumberland lodge, under splendid leadership, has accomplished an outstanding job within the past four years. He congratulated the membership on the financial standing of the unit and upon its steady growth.

Irvin reminded local Moose that the greatness of the order with its 800,000 members, has been made possible through co-operation of those who believe that fraternalism is the saving grace of the world.

"Splitting of the atom might have been a miracle, and the harnessing of atomic energy for the good of mankind might be a greater miracle still," he declared, "but the greatest miracle of all is that men can forgive and forget and though being of different minds, can build and work together, arm in arm, for a worthy cause."

Irvin, who has visited the local lodge on numerous occasions and is well known here, predicted that the Loyal Order of Moose will be within its goal of 1,000,000 members within the next year.

Schine Theaters Give $50; Tube Department Em- ployes At Kelly Plant Contribute $141.81

Contributions of $484 yesterday boosted the "Jones Family Fund" to $2,810.02, and there was every indication that the total would grow to $3,000 today and tomorrow without much difficulty.

The boost in the total over the weekend is expected to result from a series of benefits scheduled last night, today and tomorrow and from additional contributions of industrial workers, church and fraternal groups and individuals.

All are giving to the "Jones Family Fund" which is being raised in an effort to keep together the six children of Mr. and Mrs. William Joseph Jones, Midland, while Mr. and Mrs. Jones and their 13-year-old daughter are undergoing treatment for tuberculosis in the State Sanatorium at Sabillasville.

Leading the contributions yesterday was that of $141.81 received from employees in the Tube Department of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

The money, obtained in a collection taken up by the employees, was brought to the offices of The Cumberland News in a big brown paper bag. Money in the bag ranged from pennies to a $20 bill.

Contributions Total $227.81
With this donation from Tube Department employees, funds turned in by employees of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, $227.81. Previously acknowledged were gifts of $64 from the Tire Repair department and $22 from Colander Room employees.

Jel department employees of the Celanese plant yesterday turned in contributions totaling $30, making a total of $157.55 given by plant employees in addition to $100 from the company. This makes a grand total from that industry of $257.82.

A $50 check was received from Schne's Strand and Liberty theaters here, and Henry Hart Post No. 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, turned in a check of $10.

A letter accompanying the VFW check stated that it was the first of 12 monthly donations and that more will be forthcoming if the need continues. The Post offered its congratulations to "The Cumberland News for its 'public interest in cases of this kind.'"

Peskis Employees Contribute
Employees on the second floor of Peskis store forwarded a contribution of $10 and said that a similar amount will be paid each month for six months.

Two benefits in behalf of the fund were held last night; another is scheduled today, one Sunday and another Monday.

Henry Hart Post No. 1411 Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Post Drum and Bugle Corps, will hold an Armistice ball at the Queen City Hotel, Baltimore, November 11, from 8 until 1, for the benefit of the "Jones Family Fund."

Plans had been considered for the ball, which the organization expects to make an annual affair, before the appeal for the Jones family in Midland was published, but at the last meeting of the VFW, it was agreed by the membership that all net proceeds should be contributed to the "Jones Family Fund."

Tickets for the benefit are on sale at the VFW home, Union street, at $1.10 per couple including tax. John Jackel is general chairman of arrangements and music will be furnished by Grey's Orchestra.

Members of the drum corps said last night they expect to stage a street parade prior to the dance to help publicize the affair, and that floor show entertainment is to be a part of the evening program.

27 Per Cent Increase Noted In Food Prices

Textile Union Conducts
Survey In City On 18
Commonly Used Items;
Reports $1.59 1-2 Rise

A survey by the Price committee of the Textile Union of America, CIO, reveals a 27 per cent increase in the past four months on a list of 18 commonly used foods purchased in Cumberland stores, William Boyd Coleman, president announced yesterday.

The study, prepared by a committee composed of Louis Hartman, chairman, and Robert Baker, Arthur Green and Richard Boyden, also included a study of eight meat cuts and meat products and coal, noting a 34 per cent increase from June 1 to September 1 in the price of meat and a stable increase in the price of coal.

The committee reported that pound or can quantities of the 18 foods, which included chicken, fish, eggs, butter, oleomargarine, cheese, fresh and canned milk, peas, corn, tomatoes, potatoes, green and baked beans, coffee, flour, bread and tomato soup, which cost $6.12 1/2 June 1 had increased to $7.65 on October 1, and that the additional $1.53 amounted to a 27 per cent increase.

Two of the items, eggs and potatoes, the group pointed out, are seasonal. The price of eggs, which jumped from 45 cents to 71 cents in the four months, will continue to increase in the next month or so due to seasonal scarcity.

Potatoes, the only item on the list which decreased, were listed at 61 cents a peck four months ago and are now quoted at 54 cents. Since the potato season is now at its peak, prices are bound to increase, the TWUA group said.

The committee also noted that the foods used for the survey were not considered the "best available" but the best workers in this area can afford.

The meat survey, which covers a three-month period from June 1, indicated that meats had jumped 34 per cent in that period. A pound each of pork roast, sausage, bacon, ham, beef roast, steak, hamburger and lamb, which would have cost $3.09 here four months ago, had increased to $4.14 by September 1. The $1.05 increase amounts to a 34 per cent boost, the committee said.

The coal survey, the last item studied by the group, indicates that domestic coal from four local dealers averaged $6.50 a ton yesterday and $7.50 today.

The CIO, the group said, "quoted the price of coal before wage increases were granted to miners as $5.50 for domestic and $6.10 for foreign." "We were informed by the CIO," the committee said, "that retail coal dealers were granted an increase of 57 cents at one time and then an additional 10 cents which should make the selling price of domestic coal $6.37 and $7.00 for foreign."

The group said the meat survey has been the first of September since the committee could get meat prices only from the CIO. Even then, the report said, "the committee reported price control very 'ineffective' since few important items are still controlled."

He pointed out that much of labor is still affected by the policies of the Wage Stabilization Board and that the CIO needs the facts to impress upon the board the ineffectiveness of its formula established after V-J day.

Six-Inch Gas Line On Valley Street Will Be Renewed

Work will start Monday on renewing approximately 700 feet of steel pipe line on a section of the six-inch high pressure gas line extending from North Mechanic street up Valley street to the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad tracks, according to F. A. Goss, foreman of the Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company. Goss secured a permit yesterday in the city engineer's office for the work, which is estimated to take a week to 10 days. The cost has not been estimated.

The foreman explained that renewal of the pipe line will not affect gas service as far as residents of the Valley street section are concerned, because that section is served by a low pressure line. When the new section is connected with the present line, however, gas service to two bakeries, the Community Baking Company and the Schmitt Baking Company, will be halted temporarily, he added.

Goss conferred yesterday with Chief of Police Oscar A. Eyrman and Ralph L. Rizer, city engineer, regarding the work. He said the company plans to block off half of the North Mechanic street intersection with Valley street when work is done on the section of Valley street between North Mechanic and North Centre, and half the intersection of North Centre and Valley street with the work being done at that point. One-way traffic will be in effect at the intersections.

The six-inch line, which was laid in 1907, extends up Chase street from Green to Cumberland street, across the Valley street bridge, and up Valley street to the railroad station on Railroad alley. The bridge section was replaced with four-inch pipe following an explosion at the bridge in February, 1945.

Although the remainder of the line is in good condition, the section between Valley street and the railroad station is being replaced by soil conditions and must be replaced, Goss said. A crew of 20 gas company employees will do the work.

The Potomac Edison Company, notified yesterday of the proposed work, said that the PE school bus serving Kingsley High School will be rerouted, and that only a few PE buses use Valley street when leaving the car barn on North Centre street. They will be rerouted while the work is being done.

Garage Protests Picketing, Says Move Is Unfair

Stutzman Says Union Activities May Be Extended Soon

A strike called yesterday by the garage unit of Local 453 Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, resulted in vigorous protests of unfair picketing and discrimination by one of the two firms picketed yesterday by members of the union.

Some 66 members of the union stopped work yesterday demanding wage increases and the union secured permission from the Police Department to picket seven local garages. C. E. Stutzman, business agent of the union, said, however, that it was necessary to picket only two establishments since the other five did not attempt to negotiate.

Boyd Haver, proprietor of Boyd's Auto and Truck Service, Winnow street, reported that pickets paced in front of his shop all day in spite of the fact that all employees reported for work and the shop has no quarrel with the union.

He explained last night that not a single employee of the shop is a member of the teamsters union and that all of his men are satisfied.

Charges Discrimination
Charging that his place is being discriminated against, Harper pointed out that two picketing might be justified only if the union would picket every garage, gas station and accessory store in this city.

The garage operator also charged that picketing at his place yesterday was illegal since from 12 to 15 garage workers were following the man who paced in front of his shop. If a car came up, Harper said, "the gang would descend like a swarm of bees."

Dempey Goldsmith, of Goldsmith-Black, Inc., wholesale tobacco firm which is one door below the Harper garage, told the News that the pickets were interfering with his business by pacing in front of the firm and added his company is definitely not on strike.

Continue Operations
A spokesman for Spoer's Garage said all of his employees reported to work and that the garage was open to return after the lunch hour explaining they would not cross the picket line. The union listed two Spoer's employees among its 66 garage employees, it was reported.

Spoer's reported about a dozen men who were loafing on the railing near the garage left after Oscar A. Eyrman, chief of police, visited the area.

Stutzman declined to comment yesterday on the union representation at the two garages but said the union will continue to picket the place and that the picketing activities may extend to other garages.

The union official said the garages yesterday refused to accept the aid of the Conciliation Service and refused to allow Commissioner Condon, who was in town yesterday, to intervene.

Concert Series Ticket Sale Ends This Afternoon

The sale of 1946-47 season tickets for the series to be presented by the Cumberland Concert Association ends today, with headquarters at 16 South Liberty street, open until 5:30 p. m.

Among the features of the program this season will be the appearance on February 11, of the great violinist Joseph Szigeti, at Fort Hill High School auditorium at 8:30 p. m.

About 26 years ago, Fritz Kreisler told Americans that the most talented violinist in Europe was Joseph Szigeti, Americans acclaimed him when he made his debut in this country with the Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski.

Violin in Budapest, he began his violin study under his father, then was placed under the guidance of the noted Hungarian violinist and teacher Jenő Hubay. When he was 12, he played Beethoven's Violin Concerto before the great Joachim, who was enthralled. Serge Rachmaninoff said of Szigeti, "He is the greatest interpreter of my D Major Concerto."

Opening the local season on December 2 will be Muriel Kerr, pianist. The third offering will be the famous National Symphony Orchestra under the baton of Hans Knicker.

Fratz Entry Wins FFA-4-H Hog Contest

A hog entered by Donald Fratz, Accident, was judged the winner of the annual Future Farmers of America and 4-H Club Fat Hog Contest held in Accident.

Fratz's hog was selected from 90 entries by Ural Rees, livestock specialist at the University of Maryland, and received the blue ribbon for grand champion of Garrett County. It sold for 37 cents a pound and netted Fratz $83.25.

Reserve champion ribbons were presented to Wade Friend, Friendsville, for his entry in the contest. It brought 31 cents a pound or $85.05.

Driver Arrested After Car Hits House

State Police preferred a reckless driving charge against Frank Stutzman, 23, Ellicott, after his car crashed against a house in Narrows Park belonging to Robert Machethi about 12:30 a. m. yesterday.

According to Troopers W. L. Witt and William McElfresh who investigated, Stutzman was headed toward Narrows Park when he apparently lost control of the car. Damage to the house was estimated by the police at $100.

Stutzman, who was riding alone when the accident happened, escaped injury.

A. And P. Stores Sued For $2,500 By Martha Weller

Plaintiff Claims She Was
Permanently Injured
At Super Market

A suit for $2,500 was filed yesterday in Circuit Court against the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company by Martha A. Weller, who charges that she was permanently injured when an employee struck her with a handcart being used at the Super Market, Winnow street.

In the bill of complaint filed by Estel C. Kelley, the plaintiff charges that she was shopping in the Winnow Street Market, August 3, this year, and after making several purchases was preparing to leave by a side entrance to the parking lot when she was knocked down by the handcart operated by one of the clerks.

Suffered Severe Pain
Her counsel said she was permanently injured because the company allegedly suffered when she exercised due care in operating the handcart and that she suffered severe and excruciating pain after falling on the concrete floor.

In a suit filed by Martha A. Shugrue seeks settlement for injuries suffered when she was struck by a car operated by James A. Glover. Her counsel, F. Brooke Whiting, said the accident occurred several months ago on Greene street and his client was badly injured. The amount of damages was not disclosed.

Two suits by children were filed against William H. Kight as an individual and the Kight Funeral Home, by Louise H. Carvey and Clara D. Ford. Their attorney, Clarence Lippel, said the two women were injured when a car owned by Kight ran down a hill and plowed into the two women against a wall at the corner of Davidson and Decatur streets.

Cab Company Sued
Suit by titling was filed by Mrs. Jessie B. Kennedy, Cumberland, against the Astor Cab Company, as a result of accident, on a North End street. Her attorney, Robert MacDonald Bruce indicated $3,000 damages would be asked.

Mrs. Lillian F. Boston filed suit against the Progressive Quaker City Life Insurance Company for $500.

Mrs. Boston contends the firm refuses to pay on a policy taken out by the late John E. Boston in December 1945. She alleges that a 50 cent premium was paid up at the time of death.

Asking $1,500 damages, Richard E. Huff, by his father and next friend, Richard L. Huff, has filed suit against Orval W. Jenkins, C. Wilkins, and the Columbia Trust Company, plaintiff, said the boy was walking along Valley road last May 31, when he was struck by a car operated by Jenkins.

Mrs. Hovatter Wins Sheriff Nomination

By HELEN COLLETT
PARSONS, W. Va., Oct. 4.—Mrs. Grace Hovatter, widow of Tucker County Sheriff O. Gay Hovatter, who was shot to death September 9 near Emoryville, was nominated unanimously tonight for sheriff by a Democratic mass meeting in the Parsons Courthouse.

Mrs. Hovatter, who attended the meeting, accepted the nomination. Last night D. E. Croston, Thomas, special officer of the Davis Coal and Coke Company, received the Republican nomination for sheriff at a similar meeting.

On September 16 Mrs. Hovatter accepted the position of deputy sheriff to succeed A. Smith Hockman, appointed by the Tucker County Court to fill Sheriff Hovatter's place. Hockman had served as deputy sheriff for 10 years.

Grayson ran for sheriff against Sheriff Hovatter two years ago and was defeated by a slim margin.

At tonight's meeting, a resolution was read expressing sympathy and condolence for Mrs. Hovatter and her four children in the loss of their husband and father.

Attorney General Curran Hints It Might Be Well If GOP Wins

Baltimore Democratic Leader's Failure To Support
Own Ticket Amazes Party Leaders; Glosses Over
Lane And Ignores O'Connor's Candidacy

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4.—Attorney General William Curran failed to give his support to Democratic candidates in Maryland's campaign, at a party rally here several nights ago, and once more, the head of the state's legal department has become the biggest political mark of the drive for votes.

"There was unconcealed amazement in the Democratic campaign headquarters yesterday at Mr. Curran's latest performance, a speech in which he had been expected to recommend the party ticket in the impending election but which turned out, instead, to be a withering denunciation of the Democratic party's leadership, lacking even a single mention of most of the party's candidates."

"Among all the candidates the Democrats are offering for consideration November 5, Mr. Curran referred individually to only two, and them in terms less than flowery."

Fails To Name Lane
"Without using the name of William Preston Lane, the nominee for Governor, he said that he was glad to see the straightforward pronouncement of our candidate for Governor that he wants no part of the Communists, but instantly added that opposition to the Communists alone was not enough."

"The other candidate referred to was Hubert P. (Tex) Barton, a nominee for the State Senate, and that reference was to remind Mr. Barton when the time for patronage distribution comes that the Communist organization supported him in a primary contest in the Second Legislative District."

"The speech was made Wednesday night at the Eleventh Ward Democratic Club, 847 Hamilton terrace, and its disturbing effect on the leaders of the State political party was apparent from the moment that meeting ended."

New Forces Mentioned
"In the course of the speech, Mr. Curran suggested that the Democratic party is better off accepting defeats while adhering to its pre-Roosevelt lines than in winning alliance with new forces which the Attorney General described variously as subversive, undemocratic and un-American."

Whether he thought defeat for the Democratic candidates might be a good thing now.

"At the outset of his talk, Mr. Curran said, as he had on an earlier occasion, that there was no justification for believing that the defeat sustained by his organization in the primary would lead it to desert the successful candidates."

Discusses The Party
"That disposed of, however, he began a discussion of the Democratic party and said it has ' swung away in very great measure from the things which make me proud of my Democracy.' Later, deploring the alliance made since 1933, he said, 'The time has come for us to realize where we are.'"

"After this, his audience apparently expected him to propose the present Democratic candidates as the kind who could be relied upon to keep the party in its traditional path. Nothing of the kind happened."

Mr. Curran read from a message to the Congress which he sent to the American Legion national convention by J. Edgar Hoover (whom he continued to call 'Herbert Hoover') until corrected from the audience and sat down without further reference to the party ticket.

Attitude At Headquarters
"The attitude at the party headquarters in the Emerson Hotel ranged from outright resentment to attempts to rationalize with suggestions that Mr. Curran became too intent upon his major theme and overlooked his lack of mention of the candidates."

"A headquarters worker reported that Robert B. Ennis, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee and campaign manager, when asked what he thought was the meaning of the Curran performance, merely shrugged his shoulders and lifted his eyebrows."

"The candidates themselves were silent."

Celanese Efforts In Rehabilitation Work Are Cited

Military Order Of Purple
Heart Pays Tribute To
Plant's Program

"We would be strange people indeed, if we did not more than appreciate the signal honor of receiving this citation," Fred T. Small, plant manager and vice president of the Celanese Corporation of America, told his audience last night at the All Ghan Shrine Club as he received a tribute from the Military Order of Purple Heart, in acknowledgment of the rehabilitation of veterans, especially handicapped veterans, at the local plant.

The presentation, made by George Leib, national executive committee member and past commander of Mountain Chapter No. 166, Purple Heart, is one of two made in this country by the National Military Order of Purple Heart. The Ford Motor Company of Detroit, Mich., received a similar citation, Leib said.

Explaining the procedure of authorizing such awards, Leib, who served as toastmaster, stated reports of the Celanese program for veterans and its culmination in this program had been sent to the national executive body, and when the reports came before the executive board and convention for action, there was not a single dissenting vote on the motion to award the Celanese the citation.

Small outlined the Celanese program for veterans, explaining that regardless of the GI Bill of Rights, the Celanese, realizing that industry failed returning veterans after World War I, determined to evolve a program that would take care of returning GIs after World War II.

During the years of the war, no local draft board was embarrassed by the Celanese in an effort to obtain deferments for great numbers of men, the speaker declared. A total of 5,063 persons to date have left the company's employ for the armed forces. Of these, 3,745 have returned. A total of 616 of the war's supreme sacrifice, and of this number, Small said, 138 were killed in action.

"At present," he continued, "there are 97 veterans not employed but on furlough. This has resulted from the fact that veteran succeeded veteran in the same job. In all these cases we have offered them other temporary employment, but as the job is considered unacceptable, they desire to remain on furlough until a more suitable job is available."

Small said 194 veterans, receiving government assistance, have been certified for on-the-job training, and leaves of absence have been granted 137 veterans desiring full-time attendance in accredited schools as provided under the Veterans' Assistance program.

Job Filled By Dependent
A man left for armed duty, his job was filled if possible by his wife or an immediate dependent, Small stated. This was the first step in the plant's policy of doing something for the veteran. When he returned his job was waiting for him.

As a part of the plant's policy, his job was made as many as 40 different jobs available. Small declared the company has followed a rigid plan of treating each returned veteran, handicapped or well, as an individual. There has been no assembly line or group methods used in dealing with the members of the plant's large veteran in no matter what large or small part he plays in production. "The supervisors, foreman and department heads have given repeated devotion to the good work all these returned men are doing."

That much of the credit for the excellent job done by the Celanese for its veterans goes to Edward R. Allen, superintendent of plant personnel, and A. Florian Wilson, who is in full charge of the plant's veterans' bureau. Small promised the members of Purple Heart that the plant will continue its policy toward veterans as long as the need exists, and is making improvements in the program as time goes on.

Officers Installed
As a part of the annual banquet program of the order officers of both Chapter 166 and the Auxiliary unit were installed. Charles Gore, Baltimore, department senior vice commander, installed the new officers of the chapter. They include John W. Pownall, commander; Abe Loundy, senior vice commander;

Among the survivors are the following: Mrs. M. Stern, Leonard Eisenberg, Baltimore; Charles Levy, Baltimore; William Jandorf, Baltimore; Harold Sioman and Robert Jandorf, Pittsburgh; and Dorothy McCabe, New York City.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock by Rabbi Maurice Feuer. Interment will be in East View Cemetery.
